Business is the Only Thing that maintains a payroll. Business creates wealth and distributes it. Business, like art and love, is largely a matter of animation. To kill enthusiasm and destroy animation is to run a grave risk of cutting many workers off payrolls.—So says Elbert Hubbard.

WILSON REFUSES TO DISCUSS THE WATTERSON STATEMENT

New Jersey Governor, Criticised for Ingratitude, Says He Will Later Issue Reply to Editor.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 18.—Gov. Woodrow Wilson, of New Jersey, who reached Detroit shortly after noon today, positively refused to discuss the statement given out last night by Henry Watterson with reference to the Col. George B. Harvey case. He said he might prepare a statement on the matter later in the day.

The program for the visit in Detroit today of Governor Woodrow Wilson embraced a luncheon tendered by the board of commerce at noon. A dinner in his honor will be given this evening under the auspices of the Michigan Press association, which is holding its annual convention here today, and a mass meeting later in the evening which has been arranged by the Michigan supporters of Gov. Wilson's candidacy for the democratic nomination for president. During the afternoon Gov. Wilson is expected to be present at a conference of democrats from many parts of the state. At the board of commerce luncheon and the Press association banquet, it is stated, there will be no political speeches, politics being reserved for the evening mass meeting. Among other speakers in the evening will be former Postmaster General Don M. Dickinson, of Detroit; Dudley Field Malone, of New York, and Bishop Charles D. Williams, of Detroit.

COL. WATTERSON'S STATEMENT.

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 18.—Woodrow Wilson's action in breaking with Col. George Harvey and Harper's Weekly has cost him the support of Col. Henry Watterson. The veteran editor and politician made this plain in a statement he has just issued.

The statement reviews a meeting between the three men at which Gov. Wilson requested Col. Harvey to cease printing his name in Harper's Weekly as that publication's choice for the democratic nomination. Despite the fact that Col. Harvey was the "discoverer" of Wilson as a presidential possibility, the latter, declares the editor, seemed cold toward Col. Harvey, and when the latter finally asked him the direct question of whether or not he thought the support of Harper's Weekly was injuring his cause, the governor declared it was.

"That Gov. Wilson, without the slightest show of compunction," continues the statement, "should express such an opinion and permit Col. Harvey to consider himself discharged * * * left me little room to doubt that Gov. Wilson is not a man who makes common cause with his political associates or is deeply sensible of his political obligations, for it is but true and fair to

FORT WAYNE FOLK ESCAPE IN WRECK

None Injured in Accident South of Atlanta, Georgia.

PILOTED BY GEAKE

M. T. Geake telegraphs The Sentinel today giving assurance that no members of the Fort Wayne party were in any way injured in the wreck on the Central of Georgia railroad south of Atlanta early today. The special car carrying the Fort Wayne people was not damaged.

Mr. Geake's message is dated at Jonesboro, Ga., the scene of the wreck. The party left Fort Wayne early Wednesday morning over the G. R. & I. railroad for a trip to Georgia to look at the large tract of land which Mr. Geake and his associates are opening up to settlement by northern people near Waycross, Ga.

Among the Fort Wayne people in the party are Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Peltier, Max Irmscher, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hilgeman, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Hattersley, Fred Buesching, C. M. Beall, C. C. Bixler, and Messrs. Heit, Pond, Hyde, Hoffman and Rossean.

FIVE PERSONS KILLED.

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 18.—Engineer Wm. Clark, of Macon, Ga., a negro porter and three negro passengers, two of them women, were killed in a wreck at Jonesboro, Ga., twenty miles south of Atlanta early today when the South Atlantic Limited, a Louisville & Nashville railroad train handled by the Central of Georgia railway collided with a freight train. None of the white passengers were seriously injured, though a number sustained cuts and bruises.

AWAKENS IN COFFIN; DIES AGAIN.

Asheville, N. C., Jan. 17.—When Robert W. Smith, an aged resident of South Hominy, closed his eyes and apparently ceased to breathe, his friends thought him dead. They prepared him for burial, arranging a shroud about him and naming the hour for services. Several hours after these preliminaries, mourners who were gathered about the room observed a movement of the aged citizen's arms. Mr. Smith half rose, opened one eye and exclaimed, "It's raining, ain't it?" Despite these manifestations of life the shroud was not removed and 24 hours later Mr. Smith was again pronounced dead. Burial will take place today. Mr. Smith was 70 years of age and had suffered from tuberculosis for years.

FIFTY-THREE SAILORS GO DOWN WITH SHIP IN STORM

British Steamer Wrecked on Rocks Off Coast of Scotland--Captain and Three of Crew Saved.

Aberdeen, Scotland, Jan. 18.—The British steamer Wistow-Hall was wrecked early today on the Buliers of Buchan, a group of dangerous rocks off the coast of Aberdeen-shire. Nearly all of her crew were drowned. They went down with the ship. Some clung to the wreckage, but only four of them succeeded in reaching shore.

The seas were so huge that it was impossible to lauch a lifeboat. The lifeboat crew of the village of Bullers tried several times to put out to sea, but their craft was hurled back on to the shore. Most of the drowned sailors were Lascars.

Captain Stoddart, of Wistow-Hall, who was one of those rescued, says that his crew numbered fifty-six. Only three Lascars and the captain reached the shore, so that fifty-three were drowned.

The captain says that the Wistow-Hall drifted helplessly for hours before a terrific gale. Her fires were extinguished as the seas had flooded the engine room during the night.

The Wistow-Hall was a vessel of 2,139 tons and was built at Greenock, Scotland, in 1890. She was owned by the Hall line of Liverpool.

BUEHLER GIRL A BAD LITTLE EGG

She is Turned Over to Chicago Humane Society for Care.

NOT YET AN HEIRESS

New York, Jan. 18.—Violet Buehler, the young girl who ran away from home in Chicago and came to New York to earn her own way and see life will be given in charge of the Chicago Humane society, under the decision of Justice Olmstead, of the children's court here today.

When the case came up for final disposition Detective Sergeant Koerner, of the Chicago detective bureau, submitted a report furnished by the Chicago Humane society, stating that the child had a bad record in that city. The girl probably will leave for Chicago this afternoon.

Mrs. Buehler, Violet's foster mother, declared she had no knowledge of any of the incidents related in the report, but said that she was willing to have the girl taken in charge by the society.

With reference to the reported inheritance that the girl would some day receive, Mrs. Buehler said that an uncle of the child, Frederick Rothser, who is a wealthy retired restaurant keeper, was believed to intend making Violet his heir; but when he learns of this latest escapade of the girl, Mrs. Buehler said, he probably would change his mind.

LIES AT POINT OF DEATH.

John M. Riedmiller is Very Ill at Denver, Col.

Telegrams from Mrs. J. M. Riedmiller announce that her husband is lying almost at the point of death at Denver, Col., where he went with Mrs. Riedmiller three weeks ago in the hope of improvement in health. The trip was undertaken upon the advice of physicians after Mr. Riedmiller's return from West Baden. Mrs. Riedmiller says physicians at Denver told her that her husband is suffering from the final stages of tuberculosis and that in all probability he can live but a few days. Mr. Riedmiller's home is at 817 West Wayne street and he is a well known member of the Centlivre Brewing company.

MILLIONS ARE RECOVERED.

New York, Jan. 18.—Millions of dollars in security were taken from the vaults of Kountz Brothers, bankers in the burned Equitable building, during the night and removed to the firm's new vaults. The building was surrounded by policemen and the banking people worked under the lights of lanterns and the glare of search lights from the Singer building. The securities were undamaged.

WILL STICK TO SON.

Lynchburg, Va., Jan. 18.—Thomas V. Richeson, father of Rev. Clarence Richeson, the condemned murderer of Avis Linnell of Boston, today denied the report from Boston that he had deserted or ever would desert his son. "Although his is disgraced and degraded," said the elderly man, "he is still my son."

NORRIS OUT FOR SENATE.

Lincoln, Neb., Jan. 18.—Representative George Norris, of the Fifth Nebraska district, entered the race for the United States senatorship with Senator Norris Brown today, when he filed his application for a place on the republican primary ballot.

MORE ZERO NEXT SAYS MR. PALMER

Forecaster Scents a New Installment of Winter Coming.

ROSE TO 42 TODAY

A new installment of real winter is coming according to Forecaster W. S. Palmer, and the expert at the Fort Wayne station of the United States weather bureau expressed the belief at noon today that by Friday night the temperature in Fort Wayne would be down very near the zero mark.

"Behind this winter rain," said Mr. Palmer, "another big cold area has formed, and in the Dakotas and Minnesota it is from 10 to 30 degrees below zero today. We will get some of the effects of that by Friday night or Saturday.

The high point reached by the temperature in Fort Wayne today was 42 degrees. Wednesday evening the temperature climbed above the freezing point for the first time in many days. The low point tonight, in Mr. Palmer's opinion, will be about 15 degrees above zero.

THE WEATHER PROGRAM.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 18.—A cold wave is headed for Indiana, according to the forecast of the local weather bureau, and the temperature is expected to fall to ten degrees above zero by tomorrow night. This morning at 7 o'clock the temperature was 42. The rain is to turn to snow, with accompanying colder weather tonight and there is to be clearing weather and colder tomorrow with the cold wave.

WANTED TO BAR GOMPERS LETTER

Heyburn Asked Senate to Decline to Receive a Protest from Him.

HE IS VOTED DOWN

Washington, Jan. 18.—A sharp attack on President Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor, was made in the senate today by Mr. Heyburn, of Idaho, who protested that a communication from Mr. Gompers should not be received by the senate. He said that no communication should be accepted from that source after the revelations made in the McNamara case.

Mr. Heyburn had a colloquy with several senators who insisted that any citizen had a right to address a communication to the senate. The Idaho senator demanded to know if any senator could vouch for Gompers' citizenship.

There was no reply, but when it was explained that the letter was simply to transmit a protest against power presses in the bureau of engraving and printing, Mr. Heyburn withdrew his objection.

"I have developed this question as far as I care to at this time," he said.

Senator Reed, of Missouri, criticised Mr. Heyburn for attempting to shut out a communication from the American Federation of Labor. The latter replied that he referred to Gompers individually.

"Would you sit here and receive a communication from the McNamara brothers, each as an official?" demanded Mr. Heyburn of Mr. Reed.

"Unhesitatingly, yes," replied the senator from Missouri. "I would receive it from the best or the meanest of God Almighty's creatures."

On motion of Senator Fletcher it was ordered that the protest sent in by Gompers be printed in the Record. Senators Heyburn, Brandegee and Gallinger voted in the negative. Mr. Heyburn said that after this vindication Mr. Gompers should become a presidential candidate.

SAY LITMAN IS GOING TO WIN

Lagrange Man's Friends Say He Will Defeat A. J. Vesey.

FIGHT IS A HOT ONE

[Special to The Sentinel.]

Lagrange, Ind., Jan. 18.—Despite the Allen county combination to control the situation, friends of Louis N. Litman, of this city, are positive in their predictions that Mr. Litman will be elected district chairman by the convention which meets in Fort Wayne January 27.

Mr. Litman himself plainly shares their confident belief, and while no figures are given out, it is asserted that the Lagrange man is assured of sufficient votes from the outside counties to more than overcome the big Allen county delegation and the votes which Allen county managers will be able to corral for Mr. A. J. Vesey, of Fort Wayne, outside his own county. Both Mr. Litman and his friends are doing some lively campaigning, and they assert that they are getting results.

Letter Stirs Them Up.

The letter just issued by the retiring district chairman, J. M. Henry, appealing for support for Mr. Vesey, has found its way to Lagrange and it has stirred up things in lively fashion.

"It is a well known fact," writes Mr. Henry, "that there have been two factions in Allen county republicans which have existed for several years. We have succeeded in uniting all factions and agreeing upon Mr. A. J. Vesey as a candidate for district chairman. I am heartily in favor of harmony in our ranks and want to do all I can to elect Mr. Vesey. He is a true republican and has a large following in this county, and I am sure if elected, he will make a much stronger man for the place than the one he succeeds. Anything you can do in his behalf will be appreciated by me."

Lagrange republicans assert that they should not be deprived of their rights merely to help patch up peace in the party ranks in Allen county, and they say Mr. Henry ought to have remained neutral in the present contest.

Getting Much Support.

The Litman candidacy, it is asserted, is securing much support from Twelfth district republicans outside of Allen county, and some of the party newspapers are lining up for him. Just as a sample of this sort of thing Mr. Litman's friends call attention to the following expression from the Columbia City Commercial-Mail, edited by W. W. Williamson, long a prominent party worker in the district:

"If the republicans of Whitley county really want to have some man act as district chairman outside of Allen county, at least once in a century, they will now have the opportunity to assist a Lagrange county man to the place by sending delegates that will cast the ten votes of the county for him. If they want to still keep the chairmanship in Allen county, and want Allen J. Vesey to follow in the footsteps of a long line of predecessors from the same county, then they should see to it that delegates are sent to the convention on Jan. 31st that will support Mr. Vesey. If the republicans of Whitley county want "Hog Allen" to run the party machinery forever and a day, we have no objections to offer. We have stated the facts in the case and are perfectly willing to let the republican workers of the county make the selection to suit themselves."

PEKING ASSASSINS ARE PUT TO DEATH

Three Men Who Hurled Bomb at Premier Executed by Strangling.

SHI KAI IS IN FEAR

Peking, Jan. 18.—The three men who were arrested after the throwing of a bomb at the carriage of Premier Yuan Shi Kai were put to death today by strangling.

Yuan Shi Kai today attended the memorial rites for the captain of his escort who was killed by a splinter from the bomb. The premier has been granted three days' leave ostensibly on account of indisposition arising from the excitement caused by the attempt on his life. It is thought, however, that the real reason is that he does not desire to attend the conference of the empress dowager and the princes of the imperial klan on the question of the abdication of the throne which has been called at the imperial palace tomorrow. Seven of the Mongol princes persist in their determination to oppose abdication.

LIVE WIRE IS DEATH OF TWO

Spectacular Tragedy Follows Crossed Wires at Logansport.

MAN AND GIRL SLAIN

Logansport, Ind., Jan. 18.—Samuel Watkins, 60, and Miss Edith Schroeder, 16, were killed by electricity today and their bodies burned almost beyond recognition at the Watkins broom factory here. Fred Buckaman, who pulled the bodies from the burning building, received severe burns and may die. Assistant Fire Chief Jacob Westerweller was shocked by a live wire. A city high tension wire came in contact with a smaller wire leading to the factory. When Watkins went to turn on the lights 2,300 volts passed through him. As he fell he grasped the girl and both were killed instantly. Mrs. Helen Neff, aged 30, was the first person at the scene and she tried to force the door, but Watkins' body was so propped against it that she was prevented. She seized the pail of water and worked to save the girl. Buckaman, a neighbor, shoved his way into the flame-swept building to drag out the girl. He took hold of Watkins, but received burns that may prove fatal.

The wires, which had become crossed outside, burned and fell to the ground. The high tension wire fell into a pool of water and Westerweller in dragging the hose got into the water and was knocked down. The pool became a lake of fire and Westerweller was powerless to get himself out. Firemen threw him a dry hose an dhe wrapped his arms about it and was dragged out. The factor ywas destroyed. The property loss is $20,000. Watkins is survived by two married children.

WILL EXPEDITE PACKERS' TRIAL

Taking of Testimony Has Dragged for Three Weeks or More.

CARE FOR THE JURY

Chicago, Jan. 18.—Steps were taken today to expedite the trial of the ten Chicago packers charged with conspiracy in maintaining a combination in restraint of trade. Taking of testimony began Dec. 21, and only nine witnesses have been heard. In addition to their testimony eighty voluminous statistical documents have been offered in evidence. At the present rate it is estimated that it will take the government until May 1 to complete the presentation of its case, as District Attorney Wilkerson still has about 70 witnesses to be called.

The defense expects to call 100 witnesses and offers a mass of documentary evidence so that the trial may not be concluded until next August or September.

District Attorney Wilkerson today checked over the list of government witnesses with a view to shortening the hearing in every way possible. Harry A. Timmins, for the sixth day, continued as a witness today.

Guarding Health of Jurors.

United States District Judge Carpenter is closely guarding the health of the jury in the trial of the packers. He receives a report every morning from the bailiffs of the physical condition of the jurymen and gives instructions in regard to their care.

The jury has been living at a down town hotel under guard since Dec. 19, and thus far no member has complained of illness.

The trial may last until May and Judge Carpenter is anxious to avoid having the proceedings halted through the illness of any of the jurors. Two jurors have gained fifteen pounds and nearly every other member of the body has gained five pounds or more in weight. The jury rises before 7 o'clock every morning and is taken for a two mile walk after breakfast. Sunday morning they attend services at a down town church. They do not care for theaters, having attended but two theatrical performances in six weeks. Thomas Scott was a sailor for twenty years before being accepted on the jury and has bought a large coil of rope which he uses in tying knots during his idle moments.

Harry A. Timmins, chief accountant for Morris & Co., began his sixth day on the witness stand when the trial was resumed this morning.

INDIAN MAIDEN HEIRESS.

Kansas City, Jan. 18.—Attorneys for Henry C. Simpson, who died in this city three weeks ago, today instituted search for an "Indian maiden" somewhere "in the southwest," who is heiress to $160,000 of the Simpson fortune. That Simpson was wealthy was not known generally until after his death. His estate amounted to $322,000 and was left in the care of his son Henry as executor. After the death of his first wife, more than 25 years ago, the elder Simpson is said to have married an indian. It is for a daughter by this marriage that the attorney seeks. The daughter is said to have returned to live with her people, the Navajoes.

DO NOT ENDORSE SOCIALIST PARTY

Miners Do Not Believe It Politic to Hook Up in That Way.

SECESSION DEFEATED

Indianapolis, Jan. 18.—By a vote of 515 to 155 the convention of the United Mine workers of America refused today to adopt a resolution committing the organization to the socialist party and approved the substitute measure of the resolutions committee declaring "it would be well if workers would unite on the political as well as the industrial field."

The resolutions committee had reported that it would be unconstitutional for the United Mine Workers to indorse any political party.

Socialists in the convention after having succeeded yesterday in putting it on record "favoring government ownership of all industries" had determined over night it would be prejudicial to their cause to press today the resolution indorsing the socialist party as "the political party of the laboring class."

Not Wise to Press It.

"We decided," said John H. Walker, president of the Illinois miners and a socialist leader, "that it would be impolitic at this time for the convention to attempt to bind the 300,000 miners in the United Mine Workers to the socialist party. Republican and democratic delegates expressed resentment against our campaign and we have no purpose to antagonize them.

"We have succeeded in showing by the demonstrations approving the socialist orators that the movement has gained enormously in the ranks of the United Mine Workers in the last year. This will show at the polls at coming elections."

Kill Secession Resolution.

A resolution providing for secession from the American Federation of Labor and charging that Samuel Gompers, John Mitchell and other labor leaders were "in the grasp of the capitalist class through the influence of the National Civic Federation," were defeated. The convention adopted a resolution instructing the miners' delegates to the next meeting of the Federation of Labor to urge organization of workers by industries instead of by separate crafts and general co-operation of unions in strikes.

John P. White, of Oskaloosa, Iowa, was re-elected president of the United Mine Workers by a majority of 45,424½ over his opponent, Thomas L. Lewis, of Bridgeport, Ohio, according to the report of the tellers made to the convention this afternoon. White received 104,015½ votes to Lewis' 58,501.

LOVE AFFAIR IN SHOOTING CASE

Police Believe Rivalry to Have Been Real Motive.

BULLET IS CUT OUT

The police believe that rivalry in a love affair was the real cause of the trouble between George VonLuepkin and Fred Stellbrenck, as a result of which VonLuepkin attempted to kill Stellbrenck on Wallace street Tuesday night.

It is said the police are in possession of letters which seem to indicate that both men were infatuated with the same young woman, and that this led to the deadly enmity between them. VonLuepkin has not yet been captured, and officers admit that they have not yet secured a clue which appears to be at all promising, though the case is being followed up assiduously.

Dr. M. W. Tinkham this morning cut the bullet from Stellbrenck's side at Hope hospital. It was imbedded in the flesh to the depth of about one inch, and was removed with little difficulty. Dr. Tinkham says the patient has developed no unfavorable symptoms and he expects him to make a rapid recovery.

REFUSES TO DISCUSS THE WATTERSON STATEMENT.

say that, except for Col. Harvey, he would not be in the running at all."

Statement Made by Watterson.

"Regretting that I must appear either as a witness or a party to the misunderstanding which has arisen between Col. George Harvey and Gov. Woodrow Wilson," reads the statement, "I shall have to speak with some particularity in order to be just alike to the public and the principals.

"Col. Harvey stood toward Gov. Wilson much as I had stood five and thirty years ago toward Mr. Tilden. This appealed to me. Col. Harvey had brought the governor and myself together in his New Jersey home eighteen months ago, and as time passed had interested me in his ambitions.

"I was hoping I might find in Gov. Wilson another Tilden. In point of intellect and availability, I still think Col. Harvey made no mistake in his choice of a candidate; but the circumstances leading to the unfortunate parting of the ways between them leads me to doubt whether in character and temperament—it may be merely in the habits of a lifetime—Gov. Wilson is not rather a schoolmaster than a statesman.

Reviews Meeting of Three.

"I have from Col. Harvey and Gov. Wilson statements, according to the memory of each, touching what did actually happen and was spoken on the occasion named. These do not materially differ. They coincide with my own recollection.

"Nothing of a discourteous kind—even of an unfriendly kind—passed during an interview of more than an hour. From the first, however, there was a certain constraint in Gov. Wilson's manner, the absence of the cordiality and candor which should mark hearty, confidential intercourse, intimating the existence of some adverse influence. His manner was autocratic if not tyrannous.

"I did not take this to myself, but thought it related to Col. Harvey, and when Col. Harvey, apparently overcome by Gov. Wilson's austerity, put the direct question to Gov. Wilson whether the support of Harper's Weekly was doing him an injury and received from Gov. Wilson the cold rejoinder it was, I was both surprised and shocked.

Amazed at Wilson's Reply.

"I had myself, as far back as last October, suggested to Gov. Wilson that in view of his supposed environment it might be well for Col. Harvey to moderate somewhat the rather aggressive character of Harper's Weekly in the Wilson leadership.

"I am not sure I had not said as much to Col. Harvey himself, but that Gov. Wilson, without the least show of compunction, should express or yield to such an opinion and permit Col. Harvey to consider himself discharged from the position of trusted intimacy he had up to this moment held left me little room to doubt that Gov. Wilson is not a man who makes common cause with his political associates, or is deeply sensible of his political obligations; because it is but true and fair to say that except for Col Harvey he would not be in the running at all.

"Although I was given no reason to suppose myself included in the disfavor, I experienced a sense of something much like indignation, but on reflection I could not rid myself of the impression that Gov. Wilson had been receiving letters from Kentucky written by enemies of mine, who seek to use his name and fame to gain some ends of their own, warning him against me, and that to all intents I sat in the same boat with Col. Harvey.

Thinks Delay Had Purpose.

"I am in receipt of Gov. Wilson's averment to the contrary. I wish this had reached me earlier. I have during three weeks of newspaper importunity refused to print a word on the subject in the hope that no publicity might be required and that some understanding could be reached.

"I have reason to believe that Col. Harvey withheld his statement for the same cause and with the same hope. It being no longer possible to suppress the matter at issue, this full statement, which I make most reluctantly, seems needful to a full and impartial knowledge by the general public, but more especially by the mass and body of democrats who are so earnestly seeking a leader in the coming contest.

"HENRY WATTERSON."

NINTH WARDERS IN NEW EFFORT

Will Meet Friday Evening to Try to Agree on Councilman.

CITY HALL DOINGS

Citizens of the Ninth ward will make a new effort to "get together" in an agreement on some one man as a candidate for the Ninth ward vacancy in the city council soon to be created by the resignation of Councilman Pinniger, whose new position takes him to Toledo. A meeting has been called for Friday evening at the Racine collar shop on Cass street to discuss the situation.

Leaders in the new movement say they have received an intimation that Mr. Pinninger's resignation will be forthcoming very soon. When the possibility of his retirement first arose a few weeks ago there was a scramble for the job that threw the whole situation into chaos, and to settle it Mr. Pinninger announced that he would cling to the job himself. Ninth warders will now attempt to unite in support of some one candidate for the vacancy when it actually occurs.

Will Ask for Garden Street.

When the city officials very shortly reopen negotiations with the Pennsylvania company on the track elevation proposition, an effort will be made to secure an opening beneath the tracks at Garden street in response to repeated requests from residents on that thoroughfare. Track elevation affairs have been at a standstill since the clash over the opening of Clinton street some months ago.

Mayor on the Job Again.

Mayor Jesse Grice, who has been spending a considerable portion of his time at Hope hospital receiving treatment for stomach trouble, left that institution yesterday and is now devoting his entire time to his municipal job. Mayor Grice has greatly improved in health, and his physician believes he will soon be entirely convalescent.

Other City Hall Notes.

The perennial Chicago street vacation will be up for action before the board of public works this evening, and it will undoubtedly be postponed again. The members of the board have been especially invited to attend the bond issue meeting at the Commercial club, and little business is expected at the board meeting.

The Safety Insulated Wire company, Chicago, has been awarded the contract for supplying underground cable for the extension of the fire alarm system. The contract amounts to about $3,000 and the board of safety will send it to the council for approval next week.

AT THE MAJESTIC.

"THE CONFESSION," GREAT PLAY.

Presented at Majestic This Afternoon—Again Tonight.

A new play by James Halleck Reid—"The Confession"—was presented at the Majestic this afternoon to a capacity audience.

"The Confession" is a play which runs the gumut of every human emotion, and is presented with a well known cast of players.

"The Confession" is a powerful story of a young priest who chants the prayers for the dying for his own brother on the way to his execution, knowing him to be innocent by the confession of another, and yet, to preserve the sanctity of the confessional, will not speak to save his brother's life

It is the supremacy of human emotion.

POULTRY SHOW A DRAWING CARD

Visitors Concede Exhibition is Best Ever Held Here.

MAKING THE AWARDS

That the Poultry Fanciers' association of Allen county has just reason to take pride in its second annual poultry show, which opened Wednesday in the Pettit building, 214 East Main street, is conceded by every person who has visited the show. While the association promised before the opening that it would have on exhibition the finest aggregation of fancy birds ever housed under one roof in the city, the exhibition surpasses all expectations, and not a person has passed through the doors but what has been pleased with the exhibitions.

The attendance at the show on the first day was light, but the officers were not disappointed, as they expected few visitors on the opening day. The rain this morning also put a damper on the second day of the show, but hopes were expressed that the attendance this afternoon would be heavier. Friday, Saturday and Sunday, though, are expected to be the big days.

Judge George H. Northup started judging the birds at 1:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, immediately after the opening of the show to the public, and when the exhibition closed at night three classes had been judged. Premium cards were attached to the coops and today the visitors to the show have an opportunity to see the result of the first day judging. OUR CITY WILL LIGHT DECATUR

Lamps of Fort Wayne Electric Works Chosen by Council for Lighting

HAVE BEEN TESTED

Decatur, Ind., Jan. 18.—The street light problem for Decatur has been settled, it reaching a climax this week when the city council at their regular meeting agreed to purchase fifty new lamps with all the necessary equipment and the furnishing of better street lighting, of which it has been in great need for years past.

Bids have been received from two companies, one from the Westinghouse people of Pittsburg, Pa., and another from the Fort Wayne Electric works, each calling for fifty new lamps and equipment. Each company had its representative here, who thoroughly explained the matter, and then after a careful consideration the council went into executive session and selected the offer from the Fort Wayne firm, a lamp from which has been on test at the Old Adams County bank corner for a month or more.

The lights were purchased at a cost of $2,005, shipped to this city, and considered the best light of the two, now on test here. The Fort Wayne Electric works has seventy-five thousand lamps in use throughout the country and prove by their construction that they are the best lamp that can be secured. For some years the city has not been the best lighted town to be found, owing to the lights now in use having run their course and all that could be required of them has been obtained.

They have been repaired time and again and at the same time have been a heavy expense to the city, and it was not in a position to purchase new ones until now, and the buying subject had to be deferred. All are aware that the move was a good one, and with the arrival of the new lamps arrangements will be made that the entire city will be better lighted, making less expense and labor all around.

MONTPELIER "BAD MAN" CAN RETURN

Notorious Dick Starr, Fugitive from Justice, Has Settled Cases Brought Against Him.

Hartford City, Ind., Jan. 18.—Dick Starr, Montpelier's notorious "bad man," who for several months has been a fugitive from justice, is now at liberty to return to his Blackford county home without fear of arrest until he fractures the law again.

The charge of drawing a dangerous and deadly weapon which has been on the criminal docket in the circuit court for some time was erased Wednesday morning when Starr's counsel, F. E. Jump, of Montpelier, appeared and entered a plea of guilty and paid the fine of $5 which was levied by the court.

Starr had trouble at Montpelier with Joseph Crek about a year ago, but he left the county to escape arrest and went to Missouri to join his brother, Bennie, who was recently killed in a quarrel.

It is reported here that the man with whom Starr engaged in an altercation and by whom he was killed was his brother, Dick. The story, however, is without authentic foundation. Rumors state that a letter written by the widow of Bennie Starr to Blackford county relatives tell of the quarrel one morning at the breakfast table, and of the subsequent shooting of her husband by his brother.

Information received here at the time of Starr's death, however, did not connect Dick Starr with the murder of his brother. Ben Starr was reported to have had trouble over a ditch contract and drew a gun on another man, who, taking the gun away from Starr, used the weapon to blow off his would-be assailant's head.

ANTWERP NEWS.

Antwerp, O., Jan. 18.—The county treasurer has announced that Saturday, January 20, is the date on which taxes will be received.

By a deal made Tuesday, William R. Cromley again became owner of the livery barn on Cleveland street which he sold some time ago to Freeman Smith, who disposed of it to the Boice Bros., who lately dissolved partnership, William Boice continuing the business. The deal only is for the horses, vehicles, etc. The buildings were the property of W. R. Cromley, and for which he received rental.

Antony George, that diminutive representative of the majesty of the law over in Grant county, Ind., was an Antwerp visitor Tuesday. "Tony," as he is familiarly called here, where he spent his boyhood days, is a prime favorite, and all vie with one another in trying for a hand-shake with him when here. He was prevailed upon to be weighed while in the grocery of Derck & Goshorn, so we learn, and although not feeling overly robust at present, tipped the beam at 361 pounds. He had been called to attend to some business in the United States court which was in session at Fort Wayne, and as he was so near his old home town he could not resist making a short visit. Tony has been sheriff of Grant county two terms, and by report is an efficient officer, and his host of friends here are glad to know of it.

The Continental Sugar Co. loaded a couple of cars of sugar beets at this place Wednesday. There are yet about three cars in the field here to be loaded, which will be shipped this week.

Miss Fredie Kiger visited in Fort Wayne over Sunday, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Smith.

A large quantity of sugar beets that were stored at the stock yards, in pits, and estimated at about 350 tons, owing to the warm weather that prevailed several weeks since have become unfit for use in making granulated sugar and will have to be hauled to some remote spot for burial.

Floyd Harris, of the Harris hotel, was in Fort Wayne Monday.

John Stinger, one of Antwerp's prominent poultry fanciers, whose favorite confection in chickens is Black Orpingtons, is prevented from going to Fort Wayne this week and cleaning up on the exhibitors of Black Orpingtons at the poultry show that is on there from the fact that his prize rooster, "Bolliver the 1st," got his comb frozen during the late cold snap.

Orton Bevington and wife, of Hicksville, attended the funeral of Mrs. Dallis Camp at this place Tuesday.

Allen Doctor, living southwest of town, is getting material assembled to build a fine new brick house in the spring. The house will have all the modern conveniences.

Milo Schwab, railway mail clerk, accompanied by his wife and son, Francis, visited relatives near Cecil Tuesday.

Lloyd Harris was quite busy Wednesday at the stock yards in weighing and loading a carload of sheep.

The Methodist orchestra will be in attendance at the lecture to be given at the auditorium of the town hall tonight by Fredric Guy Strickland, whose subject is "Socialism."

Treaster & Scoby have been given the contract to build the shelving for the interior of the new store to be opened soon by H. M. Higenbotham, one door north of the postoffice. Frank Billman has just completed the work of repapering the walls and graining the woodwork.

The ditch that has served as an outlet for the water west of Main street, near the new school building, and into which the water from the same finds its way, has frozen to such a thickness by the addition of this water during the late cold spell and caused it to overflow into the cellars of Gordon Bros. and Reeb & Diehl. Workmen were put to work Wednesday cutting a passage through the ditch to let the water escape.

The Quickest, Simplest Cough Cure

Easily and Cheaply Made at Home. Saves You $2.

This recipe makes a pint of cough syrup—enough to last a family a long time. You couldn't buy as much or as good cough syrup for $2.50.

Simple as it is, it gives almost instant relief and usually stops the most obstinate cough in 24 hours. This is partly due to the fact that it is slightly laxative, stimulates the appetite and has an excellent tonic effect. It is pleasant to take—children like it. An excellent remedy, too, for whooping cough, croup, sore lungs, asthma, throat troubles, etc.

Mix one pint of granulated sugar with ½ pint of warm water, and stir for 2 minutes. Put 2½ ounces of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a pint bottle, and add the Sugar Syrup. It keeps perfectly. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

Pine is one of the oldest and best known remedial agents for the throat membranes. Pinex is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, and is rich in guaiacol and all the other natural healing elements. Other preparations will not work in this formula.

The prompt results from this recipe have endeared it to thousands of housewives in the United States and Canada, which explains why the plan has been imitated often, but never successfully.

A guaranty of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this recipe. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you.

DOUBLY PROVEN

Fort Wayne Readers Can No Longer Doubt the Evidence.

This Fort Wayne citizen testified long ago.

Told of quick relief—of lasting benefit.

The facts are now confirmed.

Such testimony is complete—the evidence conclusive.

It forms convincing proof of merit.

Mrs. Mary Gerdes, 901 Archer St., Fort Wayne, Ind., says: "I was afflicted with kidney complaint for nine years and my condition was so poor that I could hardly attend to my housework. My back ached constantly and my back was so weak that I could not stoop. Being advised to try Doan's Kidney Pills, I got a box at Meyer Bros. Co.'s drug store and they proved to be just what I needed. In a few days the backache was relieved and before long I was restored to good health. I am always pleased to give Doan's Kidney Pills my endorsement." (Statement given December 4, 1908.)

CONFIRMED PROOF.

On June 30, 1910, Mrs. Gerdes said: "Since I publicly recommended Doan's Kidney Pills, I have had little or no trouble from my kidneys. I will always hold a high opinion of this remedy."

For sale by all dealers. Price, 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

LET THE SCHOOL BOARD EXPLAIN.

Miss Hamilton wants to give to the city of Fort Wayne, to be held in perpetuity for the people and devoted to their use and enjoyment, the fine old Hamilton homestead on Clinton, Lewis and Montgomery streets. The Fort Wayne board of school trustees wants a part of the ground to accommodate an addition to the high school building, and to get the area which the board says is actually needed, has instituted proceedings to condemn the entire homestead for school purposes. The ground upon which the high school building stands was once a part of this homestead. The school board wants but a breadth of 100 feet from Lewis street through to Montgomery street. The balance Miss Hamilton wants to deed to the city, together with the beautiful and spacious old mansion—the ground for a park and the building for a museum, art gallery or such other proper uses as the city might make of it.

The school board does not appear to hold the idea of the proposed gift in any favor. Just what its position is and its reason for such convictions as it may have we do not know, nor does the public. The board is engaged upon the business of the public, and it should take the public frankly into its confidence. A two-fold public interest is bound up in these opposite situations. The public, of course, has a very grave concern in whatever pertains to the public schools, and it must have an equal solicitude in so important a matter as the gift to the city of property worth many thousands of dollars to be forever dedicated to the enjoyment and advantage of the people.

Let the school board be heard from. Let it tell the people of Fort Wayne why the proposed gift from Miss Hamilton ought to be rejected.

The needed enlargement of the high school building is another matter which this newspaper shortly will undertake to discuss.

CUBANS AT IT AGAIN.

Again there is a situation in Cuba that threatens to call for armed intervention by the United States. Leading Cubans, including the heads of the government, deny that there are any stresses in the status of matters that can make necessary or even remotely justify another intervention by force, but the government at Washington evidently has information of another sort, for the state department has sent a warning to the government of the island republic.

Perhaps it may as well come now as later. The Cubans are orderly only under restraint, and now and then even the steadying influence of the Washington government is not equal to the task of keeping the new republic in order. Some time the blunder of the Platt resolution will have to be corrected. Until it is there can be no vouchsafement of orderly progress and healthy development in Cuba. As a state of the great American union Cuba would enjoy every liberty and every species of regulated freedom that any present state of the union enjoys, and she would have stable government and continuing guarantees of peace and security.

At the time of our intervention to extinguish the rule of Spain in the island there was a supersensitive fear in congress as well as throughout the country that our motives would be misunderstood, and that our compulsion upon Spain to quit Cuba would be denounced as a land-grabbing adventure. Moreover, the cry of "Cuba Libre" had appealed to the sentiment and imagination of the liberty-loving and liberty-enjoying Americans. Hence the Platt resolution. But it was a mistake on many accounts. For strategic reasons, if for no other, Cuba should belong to us. But there are considerations just as important and perhaps higher. We have to perform the duty of seeing maintained in Cuba a stable government equal to all its international obligations. It is a task morally fastened upon this nation to see that progress is fostered and tranquility vouchsafed among the people whose sufferings became our concern. These duties that have been assumed by the American government could best be discharged by administration rather than by supervision and intervention.

So long as the republican party in the south is as it is and long has been, and so long as the party machinery consists as it does of federal officeholders, the chances of prying Mr. Taft loose from his title to a renomination, even with the aid of The Colonel, will not look a very glossy odds-on proposition. All of the republican party in the east and northeast is not standpat, but most of it is, and the middle and far west, while largely insurgent, are not wholly so. It may be possible to start a stampede in the convention, but we opine that Colonel New's regulator will be on the job and keeping the machine running much as it is intended. Mr. Taft's defeat is possible, but it isn't probable. He may later change his mind as to "staying in" to the death and so give the Silent One a more or less clear field. The party wants a winner, and that turns attention to The Colonel. Perhaps the third-term handicap would be as heavy for him as the standpat weight is to Taft, and that is likely to be considered by the convention.

Mr. Taft points out that millions can be saved to the people by putting all the government employes in Washington under the civil service rules. With the democrats to come into power and possession of the offices at the next change of administration, wouldn't that jar the sensibilities of a noble old spoilsman, like your Uncle Adlai Stevenson, for instance? Just because he may expect to go out is no excuse for Mr. Taft to act mean about it.

The ownership of the telegraph by the government and its operation by the postoffice department are propositions that have not alarmed the country, but have merely astonished it. It was not suspected that any such notions were lurking in the conservative head of Mr. Hitchcock. They are somewhat better for the source from which they came.

The suffragette in Sweden treads a rose-strewn path of ease. The king is the propagandist for sex equality and has announced that a bill will be introduced in parliament giving the franchise to women and full rights of citizenship. Sweden is a land of great enlightenment and the ease with which the enfranchisement of her women has come about is but another proof of it.

Mr. Ralston and Mr. Boehne are equally fine men and capable statesmen. The trouble afoot has nothing to do with that phase of the gubernatorial situation, and it is much to be hoped these excellent gentlemen may go out before the people and settle their rivalry upon their own respective merits, as should be done.

Senator Cummins, eh? Well, he is the original progressive as LaFollette is the original insurgent. Room for both of 'em, and not much chance for either.

COST OF LAWYER SYSTEM.

(Kansas City Star.)

In his latest article in Collier's Weekly on the breaking down of the administration of justice in America, Carl Snyder emphasizes "the extravagant cost of the law" incident to "an army of judges delaying and defeating justice with innumerable reversals."

The injury to justice growing out of the granting of new trials for technical errors has for years attracted the attention not alone of the public, but of judicial reformers and of other public men. Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Taft have directed official utterances and private addresses to the need of amending court practice so that no judgment of a trial court, in either a civil or a criminal case, should be reversed except for an error which deprived the defendant or the losing party of some substantial right.

At least one-half the work of all our courts is in retrying or rehearing on appeal cases which have already been tried and heard. And the ordinary trial is dragged out beyond reasonable length because the trial judge is badgered by attorneys and worried by the fear that he will make some technical error in the mere form of procedure.

This means not only that people seeking justice are delayed in getting their rights, but that probably twice as many judges have to be paid as would need to be paid if disputes in the courts were settled on their merits.

And yet that cost of unnecessary judges' salaries and unnecessary attendant court costs are comparatively but a drop in the bucket to the infinitely greater wasteful extravagance of the lawyer system of administering justice—or injustice.

In all the United States there are about 3,600 judges—as Mr. Snyder estimates. But in New York city alone there are over 16,000 lawyers. And the salaries of the best judges are not a tenth the fees of the corresponding best lawyers. The system has been so devised that a man can not turn around without having a lawyer do it for him. Not only in the court, but in nearly every intimate relation of life some form has to be gone through with which brings in an attorney-at-law at some stage of the proceedings. Yet these forms, these proceedings, are all so confused and uncertain that no one knows just what they are, or what the effect of them will be.

The idea that a plain and common-sense citizen should simply go to his people's court, his government's court, and state his case and get his rights, if he has rights—that idea is so absurd to the lawyers that they have a proverb: "A man who takes his own case to court has a fool for a client." And he has, too, under our present lawyer system. For he will be tripped up at the first step by little rules of the game which the lawyers have devised, and the courts will be powerless to help him.

Mr. Snyder has found it hard enough to estimate the cost even of unnecessary judges. No one has yet tackled the enormously more difficult task of approximating the cost of lawyers—or, rather, the cost of the lawyer system. It would be probably impossible to come anywhere near a correct estimate. For it is a part of the iniquity of the system that justice is not administered free, that fees are paid privately and that sums received in judgments are "whacked up" between client and attorney.

But when one stops to consider that every lawsuit means at least two fees to lawyers, that this great standing army of non-producers forms one of the most numerous, most wealthy and most powerful classes in our society, when one considers that a capable judge makes a great financial sacrifice in ceasing to be a practicing lawyer—when one considers these things one sees that the cost of the judicial system with all its extravagances, is small indeed compared to the cost of the lawyer system.

LOSING A FORTUNE.

(Ohio State Journal.)

In a talk in Chicago last Friday night, Thomas A. Edison said:

"Don't worry over loss of money. It plays a very small part in our lives. I've made a couple of millions several times and lost it. Keep doing something worth while and your life will be happy."

That is good advice, especially to a man like Edison, whose genius is a gold mine out in the back yard, to which he can go and replenish at any time he wishes. But even if a man doesn't get it back; doesn't get a glimpse of the lost fortune again, the advice to "keep doing something worth while" is wise; for one will get back his fortune in the doing, even if it never comes to him in cash.

There was once a man who broke up and lost all he had. He went to work hopefully and diligently, but he never recovered his fortune. It was the general remark, however, that he was happier and nobler than he was when he didn't have to work. Two virtues improved him visibly—humility and courtesy, which are the realest graces of manhood.

Several new members were initiated into Phoenix lodge, Knights of Pythias, last night, among them Captain Thompson, of the Salvation Army.

While Chief Diehl has his hand in practice, why not arrest the gamblers as vagrants? "They toil not; neither do they spin." They are broad-shouldered, muscular looking men and should earn a living like other honorable men.

The Indianapolis Sentinel says: "Senator Barrett, of Allen, is the Adonis of the senate. He is as smart as a whip and has a tidy law practice at Fort Wayne."

The following gentlemen were last night chosen trustees of the city hospital: M. L. Albrecht, W. D. Page, M. F. Schmetzer, E. F. Yarnelle, J. F. W. Meyer, Joseph Storm, M. W. Simons and W. H. Pyke.

One thing is settled now and forever: The officers can enforce the laws if they want to. The police were on the alert last night but found places of vice dark and lonely. The next thing to do is to enforce the liquor law, and then the golden era will be on hand.

The Hamilton National bank has let the contract for an immense safety deposit vault to be built and attached to the rear of their bank. The vault is made up of iron boxes and each under lock and key is to keep the bank property and besides are let for yearly rentals to people who want to preserve money and valuable records.

The inspection last evening at the armory of the Fort Wayne Rifles was both an artistic and military event in society here. Lieutenant Leonard was in command and the company was inspected by Col. J. PLENTY OF GOOD PURE WATER

Tells of Nature's Great Remedy for All Diseases—Also Gives a Simple Home Prescription to Relieve Stomach Trouble, Kidney and Bladder Afflictions and Rheumatism—Mix This Yourself at Home and Try It.

"The people here do not drink enough water to keep healthy," exclaimed a well-known authority. "The numerous cases of stomach, kidney and bladder diseases and rheumatism are mainly due to the fact that the drinking water, nature's greatest medicine, has been neglected.

"Stop loading your system with cure-alls; get on the water wagon. If you are really sick, why, of course, take the proper medicine—plain common prescription treatment, which will not shatter the nerves or ruin the stomach.

"To cure rheumatism you must make the kidneys do their work; they are the filterers of the blood; they must be made to strain out of the blood the waste matter and acids that cause rheumatism; the urine must be neutralized so it will no longer be a source of irritation to the bladder and most of all you must keep these acids from forming in the stomach. This is the cause of stomach trouble and poor digestion. For these conditions you can do no better than take the following prescription: Fluid Extra Juniper Berries, one ounce; Compound Fluid Balmwort, one ounce; Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites, four ounces. Mix by shaking well in a bottle and take teaspoonful doses before each meal and at bedtime. But don't forget the water Drink plenty and often.

"This valuable information and simple prescription should be posted up in every household and used at the first sign of an attack of rheumatism, backache or urinary trouble, no matter how slight.

ELMER CROCKETT ILL.

South Bend Man Submits to Operation Under X-Ray at Hospital.

South Bend, Ind., Jan. 18.—Elmer Crockett is seriously ill from an attack of gravel suffered Saturday evening. Mr. Crockett was removed to Epworth hospital Monday evening, where he was thoroughly examined under the X-ray by Dr. C. H. Myers, Dr. Edgar Myers, Dr. Stanley A. Clark and Drs. E. Kahlke and Coleseur, both of Chicago. His condition was found satisfactory and he was removed to his home but is still confined to his bed.

Changing Her Face

(From the Household Friend.)

Any woman not satisfied with her complexion can remove it and have a new one. The thin veil of stifling half-dead cuticle is an encumbrance and should be removed to give the fresh, vigorous young skin underneath a chance to show itself and to breathe.

There's a simple old-fashioned home remedy which will always do the work. Get an ounce of pure mercolized wax from your druggist and apply it at night like cold cream, washing it off in the morning. The mercolide will gently absorb all the lifeless skin and leave a healthy and beautiful complexion, as fresh as a child's. Naturally it takes with it all such facial blemishes as freckles, tan, moth patches, etc. It is pleasant to use, effective and economical. The face so treated immediately looks years younger.

Widow of Albert Buchanan, at Auburn, so Elects.

Auburn, Ind., Jan. 18.—Mrs. Angeline Buchanan, widow of the late Albert Buchanan deceased. Tuesday filed with the clerk her election to take under the law instead of under the will. M. Boland was appointed administrator, with the will annexed of the estate.

Before his death the deceased Albert Buchana executed a will in which he gave all his property, valued at some $15,000, to his wife, to whom he had been married for only a few years, a second wife, and cut off his son, J. E. Buchanan, the editor and properitor of the Auburn Dispatch, without a dollar. The will was considered a very unjust one. From the election made by Mrs. Buchanan to take under the law it would now seem that the son, who is the only child, would come in for a big share of the estate.

A JUVENILE COURT

Is Urged in Resolutions by the Fort Wayne W. C. T. U.

At the meeting of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union held Tuesday afternoon the first steps were taken regarding the establishment in this city of a juvenile court. Resolutions on this subject were unanimously passed, the chairman of the committee drafting them being Mrs. Geo. W. Pixley. The report, as submitted by Mrs. J. E. Prodzemiller and Mrs. A. R. Nivens, are as follows:

"The Woman's Christian Temperance Union wishes to state to the citizens of Fort Wayne and to the public in general that whereas we have a special department of work for the purpose of agitating the establishment of juvenile courts, industrial education and anti-child labor, and also a department whose first aim is to educate and to instill into the minds of the young the knowledge of the injury done by tobacco, and to teach adults the effects of tobacco, opium and other narcotics, not only upon the parent but also upon the offspring and also to secure laws prohibiting the sale of all narcotics, including tobacco in all its forms, and whereas, we stand for God and home and native land, we are heartily in sympathy with the movement on foot in our city along these lines."

Mrs. Martha Ridenour, president of the Allen county union, reported on the national convention held recently at Milwaukee. Mrs. Ridenour was one of the hundred women workers for temperance who attended the banquet at Milwaukee which was given in honor of President Taft.

The members of the union ask the support of the temperance men on the new Kenyon-Shepherd liquor bill and a committee to work for this proposition will be appointed by the president before the next meeting.

Dr. C. B. Stemen Spoke on This Theme at Hartford City.

Dr. C. B. Stemen was at Hartford City on Tuesday evening of this week, where he delivered an address. One of the Hartford City dailies in giving an account of the meeting said: "A large crowd heard Dr. C. B. Stemen, of Fort Wayne, chief surgeon of the Pennsylvania railroad, at the Christian church Tuesday evening. Mr. Stemen took as his subject, 'The Man's Work in the Church,' and, while he is not a minister, his talk was very interesting and instructive, and it was enjoyed by all. Prof. Myers presided."

He will speak Thursday and Friday at 7:30 p. m. and both morning and evening next Sunday. The theme for Sunday evening, "Two Contending Forces," is intended primarily for men, but the service is open to all.

ARKANSAS TO DRILL FOR OIL

Preparations Under Way for Operations on a Big Scale.

EXPERTS ARE THERE

Little Rock, Ark., Jan. 18.—In at least half a dozen sections of the state preparations are under way to drill for oil in 1912.

Experts from oil fields of Pennsylvania, Ohio and Texas, after investigation, have declared that there is undoubtedly oil in great quantities and probably at a great depth in Arkansas. Wells sunk a thousand feet near Little Rock yielded "traces" and some gas, and the same is true of a well in Pike county. Much money has been spent in the vicinity of Plumerville in an attempt to develop a gas field.

Gas has been found near Marked Tree that burns with a brilliant blaze. For several years the Massard prairie gas field near Fort Smith has supplied that city with light and fuel, and new wells are being brought in.

First Gusher by March 1.

The Arkansas Grand Prairie Oil and Gas company, of Pittsburg, Pa., has just located its first well in De Vall's Bluff, and expects to begin boring early in January and to bring in its first gusher by March 1. Before securing leases an oil expert of Pennsylvania was sent here to investigate. He reported that no better indications for oil have been found anywhere than in and around De Vall's Bluff.

The location of the first well was an interesting ceremony. Persons from miles around were present. The stake marking the site of the well was driven by Miss Camille A. Baird and Mrs. T. N. Gay, and, R. H. Wintkner and Z. H. Maxwell hoisted the American flag. Factory and mill whistles saluted. J. J. Harter, of Pittsburg, president of the corporation, is enthusiastic over the prospect. Extensive leases have been secured and the first derrick is practically completed. It is the California rig, 22 feet square at the base and 80 feet high, said to be the largest erected outside the California fields.

Good Flow at 2,250 Feet.

The Sulphur Rock Development company has leases on 4,000 acres in the vicinity of Sulphur Rock, Independence county, and is sinking a well on the Dye farm.

Charles Slatten will soon begin boring a well in Sulphur Springs, Benton county, prospecting for artesian water, oil or gas.

It is reported that a gusher has been brought in at Lippton, several miles north of Ashdown, in Little River county, by the Savage Brothers, contract drillers of the Caddo field. The report is that the well is bigger than any found in the Caddo country of Louisiana, and that it is being reserved by the Standard Oil interests for use at a later day, when other fields begin to run low.

The Nash Oil and Gas company recently struck a good flow of oil at a depth of 2,550 feet, near Nash, five miles from Texarkana, in Miller county. It was accompanied by a strong flow of natural gas.

PATTERSON-FLETCHER COMPANY

PROHIBITION FOR ALL BUT HIMSELF

Denver, Colo., Jan. 18.—Jack London the novelist, while snowbound in Denver on his way east, declared for prohibition for every one but himself, and asserted that "woman suffrage means prohibition." He was stretched comfortably under the bedclothes, in the Oxford hotel, fortified with a novel and several boxes of cigarettes, when he made his declaration, while on a tray near by was an empty glass.

"Women's votes will wipe liquor off the face of the earth quicker than any other agency," he said, "and that's why I worked for it in California. Woman suffrage is a stage of political evolution that is inevitably coming, and after that prohibition will be inevitable.

Favors Remodeled Society.

"This sounds strange coming from me, perhaps," he laughed, pointing to the empty glass, "but my experience with liquor convinces me that it is totally unnecessary to society, and that society will be better off without it, and I'm not a prohibitionist, personally or politically.

"It will tear up the social structure to root it out, but the structure will be better in the end, just as it improves a house when you remodel it, take out the old insanitary devices of your grandfather's time and put in modern plumbing. You have to tear up the house to do it, but you have a better house.

Kipling in Hot Water.

"Speaking of women, our friend Kipling has got himself into a lot of trouble on account of that poem he wrote about them. He's foolish to try it. I tried the same sort of thing several years ago. I wrote books about love and treated it from the biological standpoint. Well, I soon found that I had placed myself in a hornet's nest and I had to give it up.

"You've got to take love at its face value and you might as well give up trying to handle it scientifically. People won't stand for it. The only writer who ever got away with it was George Bernard Shaw, and he did it because even his admirers thought he was joking and failed to see that he was in dead serious earnest."

London stopped here on a business trip to New York from his home in Oakland, Cal. He was accompanied by Mrs. London and a Japanese valet, Yshimatsu Nakata, who was with him on the famous voyage of the Snark. "I'm going around the world again by sea pretty soon," he said, "in a Gloucester fishing smack. I'd rather risk my life on one of them than on an ocean liner. They float like a cork."

SOCIETY

Everything was so cheerful and bright at the home of Mrs. Nate Beadell, of East Wayne street, this afternoon, that the ladies gathered for a game of bridge in response to their hostess' invitation, gave little heed to the gray skies out of doors. There were pink carnations in all the rooms that lent their spicy fragrance and ferns and small palms were a part of the prettiness of the decoration. When the supper was served brass candlesticks tied with green bows and holding pink candles were placed on the table and contributed to the daintiness of the appointments. Mrs. Beadell was assisted during the afternoon by Mrs. A. F. Archibald and Mrs. C. M. Jones. There were two out of town visitors present, one of whom, Mrs. H. C. Robertson, of Grand Rapids, is the guest of Mrs. Beadell. Mrs. H. W. Ten Brock, also of Grand Rapids, was the other guest from away. There were players for six tables.

Mrs. Leon Robertson, of Chicago, who is visiting friends in the city, has been the special guest at gatherings of friends in her honor. On Tuesday Mrs. Leland F. Johnson gave a thimble party for fifteen ladies and yesterday Mrs. Jules Simon gave a small luncheon in honor of Mrs. Robertson. Tomorrow Mrs. Walter Shepard, of West Berry street, will entertain a small company at cards for the same visitor.

There were seven ladies who were guests of Mrs. E. H. Olds at a game of auction bridge yesterday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Launes McPhetridge, of Indianapolis, who is visiting Mrs. A. W. Pickard. It had been planned to have a sleighing party to the Country club this evening in honor of the same visitor, but plans have been changed on account of the weather.

Miss Mayme Noll, of West Wayne street, has returned from a visit with her brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. George M. Noll, of Toronto, Canada.

Miss Sadie Fleming, of West Berry street, has returned from a visit of several weeks in Washington and New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Vesey, jr., celebrated Mr. Vesey's birth anniversary last evening by giving a family dinner party.

Miss Mabel Carter is going to Bluffton to teach a class in vocal music one day each week. Miss Carter is a pupil of Mrs. Clara Zollars Bond and is the contralto in the Baptist church choir.

There will be a meeting of the Home Culture club on Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. O. N. Guildin, at 2:30 o'clock. This meeting is set a week earlier than usual as Mrs. Guildin will be out of the city the last Saturday of the month.

The employes of Wolf and Dessauer's store enjoyed a banquet at the Elks' cafe last evening and after satisfying their appetites with various good things of the menu went to the Odd Fellows hall and had an informal dance. All passed a merry time.

Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Babcock, who had been visiting Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Mills, have started for California. Mr. Babcock is a representative for the Cleveland Dental company and will be permanently located in the west now, as he has the Pacific coast territory. Mrs. Babcock had been here several days visiting her sister, Mrs. Mills.

A company of young girls who planned a sleighing party for last evening were not daunted in their purpose by the drizzling rain. They had supper at the home of Miss Helen Gerow, of Westminster place. Misses Marcelline and Agnes Gerow assisted the hostess in serving a hot supper.

The West End Chautauqua held a social meeting this week at the home of Mrs. Martha Cox, who was assisted in entertaining by Mrs. John Knott and Miss Ethel Cox. An informal discussion of some authors whose surnames begin with the letter D was held early in the evening and conversation concerning such authors as Mary Mapes Dodge, Margaret Deland, Mrs. Rebecca Harding Davis and Paul Lawrence Dunbar proved instructive and entertaining.

McConnell—Anderson.

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Anderson, of South Harrison street, announce the marriage of their daughter, Ella, to Mr. James McConnell, which took place Wednesday evening, January 17, at the American hotel, in St. Louis, Mo. A Presbyterian minister performed the ceremony. The bride and groom left for St. Louis on Tuesday evening intending to be married on Wednesday morning but the delay of trains kept them on the road until after noon yesterday. In a few days Mrs. McConnell will return home to make arrangements to go to St. Louis to live, as Mr. McConnell's business as district agent for the S. F. Bowser company makes that city his headquarters. The bride is very well known in this city, which has always been her home and she is regarded with the greatest of esteem and with much affection by many people. She has been assistant to her father in the Anderson tea store for some years and owns and handles the work of the Woman's Exchange. Mr. McConnell is a Fort Wayne man whose integrity of character and business ability have won the admiration of business associates and personal friends. Neither the bride nor the groom cared to have a wedding and left the city in order to be married as quietly as possible, as the bride's parents consented to that plan.

Tickets can be bought at the door of the Anthony hotel or at Mrs. W. H. Peltier's music studio for the concert under the management of the Morning Musical society to be given this evening by Miss Kitty Cheatham, of New York city. In New York city Miss Cheatham is regarded as an important feature of every musical season. The auditoriums in which she appears in that city are always packed to the doors while in London and Paris this American artist appeared before the most distinguished people. Fort Wayne is fortunate in having an opportunity to hear an artist of such distinction and talent.

LACE AND RIBBON.

The attempt made to bring in the hoop skirt has proved a dire failure. And over that we may sing paeans of praise. The long graceful line is altogether too irresistible to be parted with gladly, and we have never assuredly had the fichu served up in such an alluring guise as at present.

It is difficult, indeed, to find words in which adequately to express one's admiration for the ingenuity responsible for the infinite variety wrought with this time-honored adjunct. Nor of that charming lace berthe, dropped in so apparently artless a manner on to the round decolletiage, long, stole-like ends falling at the back.

Fashion urges the acquisition of anything pertaining to good lace. Good lace does not necessarily mean real handmade lace, but the best of the wonderful latter-day reproductions. This commands, and very rightly, a price, consequently only those establishments that control a certain high-class custom feel justified in stocking it. It is pretty well a foregone conclusion that lace will continue to play a big role in the next change of fashions, followed closely by ribbons, for the latter in their way are in no sort behind hand in beauty and richness of aspect, and positively illimitable in variety.

OLD RESIDENT CELEBRATES NATAL ANNIVERSARY.

MRS. A. M. M'CAFFREY.

A family gathering which afforded all who attended it a delightful time was held yesterday afternoon and evening at the home of Mrs. A. M. McCaffrey, 716 Madison street. The occasion was the seventy-eighth birth anniversary of Mrs. McCaffrey and the social affair was planned by her daughters. Very lovely decorations in the way of smilax in the archways between the rooms and letters forming the words, "A Happy Birthday," and the number seventy-eight were further set off by numerous blooming plants of cinerara and cyclamen. The dining-room was very cheerful with its red flowers and when the small tables were laid for the repast served at 6 o'clock, red and white carnations filled a vase for each table. The guests were all members of the family with one exception, Mrs. Louise Throckmorton, a lifelong friend. Mrs. McCaffrey has been twice married and a widow for many years. She was born in Ohio and was married to her first husband, John Winbaugh, before she came to Fort Wayne to live, about forty-five years ago. There are seven children—Mrs. Martin Heffelfinger, of Butler; Mrs. Tom McKenzie, of New York city; Mrs. H. W. Pierce and Mrs. George W. Thompson, of this city, and three sons, John and George Winbaugh and Will McCaffrey. Six grandchildren, all of whom live here, are Mr. and Mrs. John Thompson, Miss Millie Thompson, Miss Jennie and Miss Mildred Winbaugh and Charles and Wilbur Winbaugh. Mrs. Heffelfinger and Mr. and Mrs. McKenzie were the out-of-town guests present at the celebration. Mrs. McCaffrey enjoys remarkably good health. She is an English Lutheran and has been an active member of Rev. Dr. Wagenhals' congregation for many years. The family gathering also included Dr. H. W. Pierce, George W. Thompson, Mrs. John Winbaugh, Mrs. Will McCaffrey.

ARE WE TO WEAR POWDERED COIFFURES?

THE powdered coiffure adapted to modern needs has made its appearance in Paris.

Women have been in search of something new in hair dressing fashions for some time back, and the modern version of the pompadour poudre coiffure, fashionable in an earlier generation, is likely to be extremely popular.

The powdered tresses are now dressed up loosely from sides to back toward the crown of the head, where they are built up, not too pretentiously, into coils and puffs, with tiny curls softening any hard outline.

When poised at the right angle the coils and puffs have a very charming effect, and to hold them in place one of the fashionable jewelled bands is drawn round the head.

Another version of the coiffure poudre shows the waved hair parted in the centre and simply drawn to the nape of the neck, where it is arranged in a series of coils. Round the head as a finish there is a coil of twisted pearls, which clasps at the side with a pearl cabochon.

Some women are parting the powdered hair from the forehead to the nape of the neck and then arranging the tresses in shell fashion over the ears, the shell like coils being plaited with strings of jet or pearls.

This style is very quaint and curiously becoming to the youthful face.

A coiffure which is liked by the matron shows the hair waved all over, parted in the centre and drawn to the back of the head, where it drifts into a rolled coil, softened where it rests on the neck with little curls. Black velvet ribbon is then threaded round the head, the ends being tucked under the coil.

Hair dressers and milliners in Paris, who work together in evolving new styles to harmonize with each other's art, are experimenting in ringlets and curls for daytime coiffures.

With the present style of hat, which comes low on the head, extinguishing all sign of hair, something had to be done to soften the hard, unbecoming line between neck and hat, and for this ringlets and little curls are again being pressed into service.

PAPER BAG COOKING

Great System Perfected by M. Soyer, Famous London Chef.

GENERAL DIRECTIONS FOR PAPER BAG COOKING.

By M. Soyer, Chef of Brooks' Club, London.

I do not claim for the paper-bag system of cookery that it can cook everything. It is evident that tea must still be made in the teapot. Generally speaking, we may waive our claim to having mastered the difficulty with respect to soups, although I have made beef tea with excellent results. The following is a list of articles that may in the meantime be avoided:

Soup (except beef tea), omelette, scrambled eggs, jam (except in small quantities), Scotch kale, beans, cabbage, cauliflower, broccoli, artichokes, macaroni or kindred Italian pastes.

The success of the system depends entirely upon how it is carried out. Good cooking requires time, care, attention to detail, taste and a temperature suited to the particular dish being cooked. While the paper-bag system is labor and time saving, as well as affording more nutritive and appetizing effects than the present, it does no abrogate any of the rules that apply to efficient work at the kitchen-table.

The Bag.

Specially prepared bags should be used. Without them the method cannot be practiced with assurance of success. The bag should be made of materials that guarantee its purity. It should be odorless, and its purity a guarantee that nothing injurious can possibly be imparted from it to the food cooked in the bag.

Before using the bags—

(1) Select one that "fits" the food intended to be cooked:

(2) Grease slightly the inside of the bag, except in the case of vegetables or when water is added. For beginners it is advisable. Butter, lard or dripping may be used.

(3) When the food has been prepared for the bag, place the same on the table and lift the uppermost edge of the bag while you insert the contents.

(4) Fold the mouth of the bag two or three times and fasten with a clip. Strong wire paper-clips, obtainable of any stationer, answer the purpose. It is desirable to fold the corners of the bag so as to secure as near as possible a hermetical closing.

The Oven.

Practically any oven will do. Paper-bag cookery is as well suited to a gas stove as it is to a coal oven, an electricity cooker or oil stove, always provided the necessary heat is secured. The size of the oven makes no difference to the cooking, only to the size of the article.

Before placing the bag with its contents into a gas oven, the gas should be lighted at least eight minutes beforehand. The average oven heat should not be less than 200 degrees Fahrenheit, and when the bag is put into the oven this ought to be reduced in eight minutes after to 170 degrees. To find out the correct degree a thermometer, of course, is the most accurate method; but experience will soon teach the cook what is required, and the color assumed by a piece of paper placed in the oven will at once tell whether it is too hot or too cold.

In the case of coal-heated stoves with solid shelves a wire broiler should be used. This should be placed on the shelf with the bag containing the food. It is necessary to emphasize the fact that, except in the case of pies, no dish should be used.

How to Know when the Food Is Cooked.

If the time-table is adhered to, the bag may be taken out of the oven in confidence that the food is well cooked. But if from any cause the heat declines, it is very easy to find out whether the food is properly cooked. Except in the case of vegetables, a little hole can be made in the bag by which the food can be seen and judged as to whether it is cooked or not. This will not militate against the cooking of the food in the slightest. In many articles, however, a slight touch of the bag will indicate to an ordinary cook whether the bag is ready to be served. A prick with a needle is another method that may be adopted. But a peculiarly favorable feature of paper-bag cookery is that if the food is left five or ten minutes in the bag in the oven longer than the specified time on my table, the food will not be spoiled. There is little chance of over-cooking.

Dangers to Be Avoided.

Cooking generally has its dangers, like other occupations. It is the beauty of this system that the dangers are reduced to a minimum. One does not require every now and then to open the oven door "to see how the roast is getting on." The oven is doing its work, because the whole force of the heat is playing upon the bag and ensuring every part of the food being properly penetrated. Nevertheless, care should be exercised when opening the oven.

Care, again, should be exercised in taking the bag out of the oven. A plate should be placed gently under the bag about a couple of inches, and the bag drawn completely on to the plate with the fingers. The bag should be ripped open from the top and the fragments thrown at once away.

IMITATION FURS.

The long haired Persian cat makes up into beautifully long and silky skins, which are treated and worked by expert furriers in every ingenious way possible, so that the purchaser is quite ignorant of the fact of what she is wearing.

The rabbit is, of course, known as coney, and, when wonderfully clipped and dyed black, is familiar to us all in this guise under the name of seal coney. This is made into long fur coats, which can actually be obtained for very small amounts, and many women possess a coat of this description for rough wear or long distance motoring in order to have a better and more costly garment.

The ubiquitous rabbit with a white coat is again utilized to make the long "ermine" coats, so that something approaching this costly fur may be worn by the woman with a small purse. These imitations are quite desirable, and are by no means to be despised.

A very charming long coat, for instance, was made in pure white coney cut into small skins resembling the ermine, and had a deep collar and revers of skunk, which also bordered the cuffs. Though quite inexpensive, this coat gave a very beautiful effect, as it was cut with a pure, sweeping line, one side fastening across, while the corners were rounded off in front. It was quite devoid of the little black tails which until this year we have been accustomed to associate indispensably with ermine. It is interesting to know that the point of their tails only turns black at certain times of the year—in winter.

A NOVELTY IN DRESS.

From Paris comes the news that white satin is to be worn in the daytime for winter dresses. This new idea has already been carried out, one gown being in ivory charmeuse, with a crossed bodice and a belt of Dresden blue taffeta.

Touches of the same colored taffetas could be seen under the yoke of fine lace, which was scooped out in Dutch style at the neck. The dress otherwise was quite plain save for a hem of skunk, and it was worn with a long coat of black plush hemmed with skunk and finished with a storm collar and large revers of the same fur.

Pale mauve satin, another of the materials usually reserved for the evening, is being utilized for day gowns in combination with black chiffon and fur. Of course, such a gown is suitable only for afternoon wear, and then only when the wearer has a closed car at her service.

Tomato Sauce.

Turn a can of tomatoes into a saucepan, add a bit of bay leaf, two cloves, half of a small onion and a sprig of parsley, a half teaspoonful of salt and a dash of pepper. Heat and stew for half an hour; press through a sieve. Return to the fire and thicken with one tablespoonful of flour wet with cold water. This sauce bears reheating.

Date Pudding.

Date pudding is simple and will be greatly enjoyed. Mix together two cupfuls of graham or whole wheat flour, one cupful of milk, one cupful of molasses, one teaspoonful of salt, one half of a teaspoonful of soda and one heaping cupful of stoned dates cut fine. Steam in mold for three hours and serve with a liquid sauce.

Good Shampoo for the Winter Months

"The hair and scalp require shampooing nearly as often in winter as during summer," writes Mrs. Mae Martyn in the Philadelphia Star, "and when a woman neglects this important duty her hair soon becomes oil-laden and unmanageable.

"A soothing and cleansing shampoo mixture can be prepared at little cost by dissolving a teaspoonful canthrox in a cup of hot water. This rubs into a thick, white lather, stops the itching almost instantly, and dissolves every particle of dust, dandruff and excess oil. Rinsing leaves the scalp clean and healthy, while the hair dries evenly and quickly, taking on a charming softness and rich gloss. Occasional shampoos with canthrox encourage the hair to grow long and abundantly."

A Home Recipe for Removing Wrinkles

(From Woman's National Journal.)

Who will blame the modern woman for trying to look as young and attractive as she reasonably can? Why should she be placed at a disadvantage in numerous ways by wearing wrinkles, if she can avoid these hateful marks of advancing age?

Few women, however, know what to do to effectually rid themselves of wrinkles or sagginess. None of the advertised preparations is satisfactory and most of them are very expensive. But a very simple and harmless home remedy, which any woman can make, will work wonders where all the patent preparations fail.

Buy an ounce of powdered saxolite at any drug store. Dissolve the whole ounce in a half pint of witch hazel and use it as a wash lotion. The results are practically instantaneous. Marked improvement is noticed immediately after the very first trial. Wrinkles and sagging are corrected and the face feels so refreshed and smug-like.

BALLOT A FARCE IN OLD MEXICO

Candidate May Get a Big Majority But Not His Office.

ONE CASE IS CITED

City of Mexico, Jan. 18.—Free suffrage is a fact in Mexico now. Any male twenty-one years old may vote. The ballot is open to all citizens. The only trouble is that the man who is elected may not be permitted to assume the duties of his office. The choice of the people may not be the choice of the powers that be, and the people have to take the consequences.

They had an election not long ago in the state of Chiapas. There was a pretty hot campaign for the governorship, and a man named Rivera G. (that is the way he signs himself) was elected by an overwhelming majority over all the other candidates. Pluralities don't count here; a candidate must have a majority of all the votes cast to be elected. Rivera G. got that majority and plenty of votes to spare. He was in the City of Mexico when he was elected, and he went to Chiapas to take office.

When Rivera G. arrived in Chiapas he found the state legislature in session. The legislature didn't like him and didn't want him for governor. They preferred a man named Gordillo Leon, who had been a candidate and had been snowed under at the elections. So the legislature voted to seat Leon, and told Rivera G. he could not be governor. He protested, but they paid no attention to him. He insisted that he had been elected by the votes of the people, but that argument merely amused the legislators.

The matter was referred to the federal government. President Madero heard the evidence and decided that Guillermo Leon would have to act as governor, giving as his reason that the legislature had so decreed, and the legislature was the lawmaking body of the state. No one cared to dispute the president's decision, and so Leon is governor and Rivera G. is out in the cold.

The written laws here are very similar to those in the United States, and there is no more warrant under them for such a proceeding as the above than there would be for the legislature of New York to decide that it didn't like the elected governor and so appoint some other man in his place. Then if President Taft were to uphold the legislature the thing would be complete as a parallel, especially if he had federal troops to enforce his ruling.

The slogan of the Maderists was "Free suffrage and no re-election." The free suffrage part has been tried, more or less, and seems to work quite nicely so far as permitting the citizens to vote is concerned, but there have been any number of elections thrown out on account of fraud; or alleged fraud, at the polls. Those elections will have to be held over again, but how they will ever have an election in this country without fraud of some kind at the polls is a puzzle. If every election at which fraud is practised is thrown out it is a safe bet that no man will ever hold office here by the votes of the people.

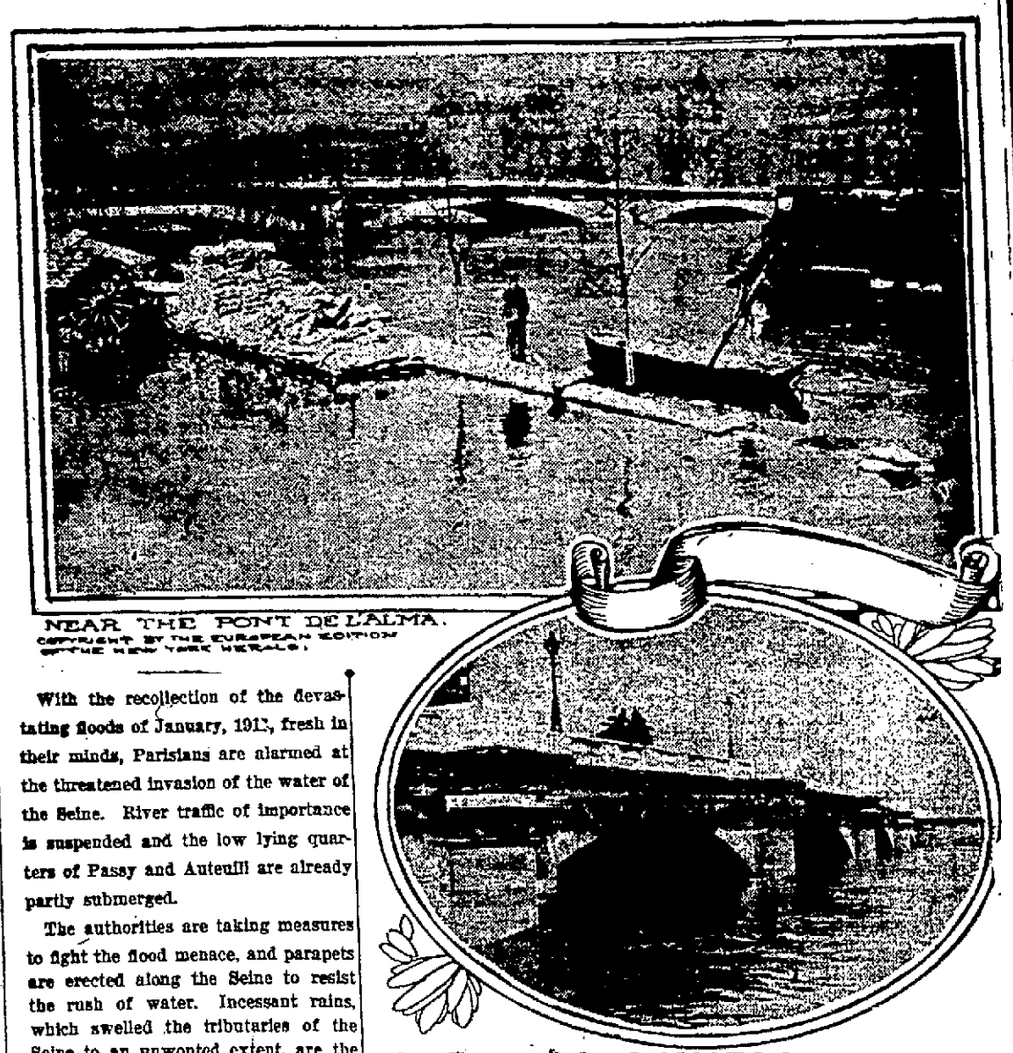
Madero was elected by an overwhelming vote—just as Rivera G. was—but he stuck and was made president; but there have been many charges of fraud in that election, too. They have not been pressed, and the principal ones who dared prefer them have left the country. Reyes, in his proclamation calling upon the Mexican people to overthrow Madero, used as his main argument the charge that Madero was elected by fraud. It is the contention, too, of Emilio Vazquez Gomez, one of the defeated candidates. He has left the country, and there are many who believe that he will head a revolution before long which will be much more dangerous than the one Reyes tried to engineer.

The fact is that with 85 per cent. of the people unable to read or write, it is impossible to have universal suffrage and fair elections. The people don't know how to vote, and they do just what the unscrupulous officials at the polling places tell them to do. A Tammany heeler would turn pale at the thought of doing what the Mexican heelers do here.

Graft is the incentive for all political activity, at least among the smaller fry, and as they are seldom if ever prosecuted for election offenses, they do not hesitate to employ any illegal methods which suggest themselves to get votes.

Jose Yves Limantour told the writer less than a year ago that he was in favor of having educational qualifications for voters here, and that it would be highly dangerous to permit universal suffrage under present conditions, and Limantour knew his people well. The result of the experiment, so far as it has gone, has shown that he was quite right in his predictions, for, from an American viewpoint, at least, the elections here have been a farce, and the will of the people has cut a small figure in them. As Deputy Bulnes said some time ago in the chamber of deputies, there is no such thing as a democracy in Latin America and never can be; and Bulnes is about the brainist man in the Mexican congress.

PARIS FEARS REPITITION OF DISASTROUS FLOODS OF 1910



NEAR THE PONT DE L'ALMA.
COPYRIGHT BY THE EUROPEAN EDITION OF THE NEW YORK HERALD.

With the recollection of the devastating floods of January, 1910, fresh in their minds, Parisians are alarmed at the threatened invasion of the water of the Seine. River traffic of importance is suspended and the low lying quarters of Passy and Auteuil are already partly submerged.

The authorities are taking measures to fight the flood menace, and parapets are erected along the Seine to resist the rush of water. Incessant rains, which swelled the tributaries of the Seine to an unwonted extent, are the prime cause of the threatened flood.

LEARNED TO CYCLE AT 87.

London, Jan. 18.—There died at Gravesend recently J. C. Johnson, who completed his 100th year January, 1911. He was known locally as "Gravesend's Old Man," and his career had several remarkable features.

Born of working parents at Vauxhall on Jan. 28, 1811, he worked as a lad in a cement manufactory at Nine Elms, and in later life he established factories for the manufacture of Portland cement at Swansecombecliffe and Greenhithe. He opened the first cement works on the Medway, and also established extensive works on the Tyne.

The Portland cement industry owed its origin to Mr. Johnson. He was one of the oldest total abstainers and had been engaged in temperance work from boyhood. He learned to cycle when he had attained the age of 87. His mental faculties remained virile to the last, and until a short time ago his recreation was the making of a literal translation of the New Testament from the original Greek.

He had been mayor of Gateshead, and was a justice of the peace.

Mi-o-na Banishes Indigestion, Sourness, Gas and Heaviness

Promptly Stops Fermentation and Every Form of Stomach Distress, or Your Money Back.

Millions of people have been cured by using MI-O-NA Stomach Tablets and now have strong stomachs, capable of digesting the heartiest meals.

Millions of others continue to suffer from indigestion even though MI-O-NA is guaranteed or money back.

Millions suffer from distressed stomach, acid stomach, belching of sour food, a miserable heaviness at pit of stomach even though MI-O-NA is guaranteed or money back.

Millions parade a foul breath, display a dull-eye, stand for attacks of biliousness and dizziness even though MI-O-NA is guaranteed or money back.

Many get so nervous and irritable from fermentation of food in stomach and the action of poisonous stomach gases that they have headache regularly, have bad dreams nightly and become despondent and unfit for active work. And still MI-O-NA is guaranteed to end all these troubles or money back.

What excuse have these people for suffering, when MI-O-NA, the universal stomach prescription can be had in tablet form for 50 cents a large box? At Meyer Bros. Co., Four Drug Stores, and druggists everywhere.

There is only one excuse, the old worn out, banged, battered and torn excuse—the excuse of the undeveloped—the excuse of the childish, the weak and the mentally deficient.

Just because—just because; that's the excuse, that's why they don't get MI-O-NA and win back energy, vim, vigor, vitality and a perfect stomach—Just because—it's a poor old decrepit excuse, but to some people it's better than none.

To all intelligent people we simply say that MI-O-NA Stomach Tablets only cost 50 cents a large box and are sold on money back if dissatisfied plan.

LIVED APART, YET TOGETHER.

Will of Pueblo Millionaire Discloses Secret Pact With Wife.

Pueblo, Col., Jan. 18.—A strange circumstance in the life of James C. Smith, a Pueblo pioneer and reputed millionaire, developed when his will was filed.

It is learned that in the past twenty-three years Smith and his wife, who to all appearances were happy and contented, have lived absolutely apart, occupying the same house, but never the same apartment.

Even their children or closest friends did not know of a secret agreement which existed between them, the same providing: Tht they bear only platonic relations toward each other; that Smith pay all of the expenses of the house, for the education of their children, and allow Mrs. Smith the sum of $50 for personal expenses. In return Mrs. Smith agreed to waive all claims to the extensive property owned by Smith so long as the terms of the contract were observed.

Mrs. Smith was to exert a careful and motherly interest over their children, teach them to love and respect their father "so long as he shall deserve such respect," and keep the terms of the agreement absolutely secret.

The estate, which includes a number of Pueblo's biggest business blocks and a 1,000-acre ranch in the Arkansas valley, will go to the children, who are now grown.

HOBOS ENJOY REAL FEAST.

Theater Manager Acts as Host to 200 London "Drifters."

London, Jan. 18.—Two hundred of this city's hobos had the time of their lives when Arthur Phillips, the manager of the Court theater, gave them a feast.

Mr. Phillips made arrangements last week to entertain the city's destitute men, giving them a fine dinner and also a chance to see a show. The play is Tom Gallon's "The Great Gay Road" and in it Mr. Phillips takes the part of a gentleman hobo.

The meal served was rather Gargantuan, and after the hobos had satisfied themselves with food they were supplied with pipes and tobacco. Those who did not smoke contented themselves with candy. Then they went to see the play, and all joined in a song before the curtain was raised. Then two of the tramps arose and made speeches, in which thanks was expressed, and the speeches were of the most cultured sort. The picture man then came in and took a flashlight photograph of the assemblage.

Each of the men assumed a portly pose as the flash went off.

LAST SEASON MARKED END OF ACTIVE CAREER OF MANY STARS OF BASEBALL

Bright Lights of Decade Pass Out of Major League Circles---Many of Will be Installed as Managers.

New York, Jan. 18.—In no season in recent years did as many major league veterans hear the call from Father Time as in the season of 1911. Many of these grizzled old fellows, who will never appear again before a major league throng, were stars of the first magnitude five or ten years ago.

Among the players who will cease active work in the majors next season, or who have been sent to the minors, are Fred Clarke, Harry Davis, Frank Chance, Fred Tenney, Kid Elberfeld, Wid Conroy, Charley Hemphill, Harry Steinfeldt, Topsy Hartsel, Dan Hoffman, Jesse Tannehill and Charley Schmidt.

Fred Clarke will, of course, remain in Pittsburg as manager. He declared that he will never be an active participant in a game again. So positive is the Buccaneer chieftain that he is through with the game, that he has wagered twenty-one suits of clothes that he will not as much as take a crack at the ball in a pinch next season.

Davis, Chance and Tenney, before the days of Hal Chase, were regarded as the three best first basemen in the country. In 1902, 1903 and 1904 Davis, the old Athletic first sacker, was acknowledged the best first baseman in the American league, and for years he led the American league in home runs and extra base hits. Davis will go to Cleveland as manager next season, but is through as a player.

Chance May Play Occasionally.

Huck Chance may play a few games next year, but the consensus of opinion is that he is through as a player. This belief is strengthened by the strenuous efforts the Cubs are making to land promising first sackers. Chance has been advised by his physician to never participate in another game. From 1905 to 1910 Chance was the star first baseman of the National league.

Tenney, who was the shining light in the first base ranks before the advent of Chance, has played his last National league game. He has a contract to manage the Boston Nationals next season, but Kling has subsequently been signed to succeed him. The veteran may be retained by Boston as a scout.

Perhaps in no team has the ax fallen so heavily on the old-timers as in Washington. Clark Griffith intends to build a new team in Washington from the ground up, and as a starter has disposed of Elberfeld, Conroy, Gray and Leifield. Elberfeld and Conroy were Highlanders until a few years ago, and in their time were ranked with the greatest infielders in the game.

Two outfielders who formerly were classed with the stars of the American league will be managers in the bushes next season. Charley Hemphill, the popular Yankee centerfielder, will guide the destinies of the Atlanta Southern league club next season, while Topsy Hartsel, the former midget outfielder of the Athletics, will manage the Toledo team of the American association.

Steinfeldt Also in Minors.

Harry Steinfeldt, the former great Cub third sacker, who played about thirty games with the Boston Nationals last season is through with the big leagues, but will probably land a berth in the minors.

Danny Hoffman, who played with the Athletics, Browns and Highlanders, was sent to Indianapolis last season. When he broke into the American league in 1903, Danny was believed to be one of the greatest outfield finds of a decade. He was almost killed by a pitched ball in 1904 by Jesse Tannehill of the Boston Red Sox, and he never was the same player from that time on.

Jesse Tannehill, who disabled Hoffman, has also heard the call to the minors. He started the 1911 season with Cincinnati, but soon drifted to the Southern league. He was a wonderful southpaw until a few years ago, and was a big factor in the pennants won by Boston in 1903 and 1904.

Charley Schmidt, the leading catcher of the Detroit Tigers in their three pennant years—1907, 1908 and 1909—has been sent to Providence.

Mordecai Brown also wishes to be put among the retired stars, but it will be better to wait until next April to see whether Brownie is sincere with his retirement yarn.

Other players who have been in the big leagues several seasons and have wended their way back to the bushes are Amby McConnell of the White Sox, Bill Burns, the Phillies' southpaw pitcher; Walter Blair, of the Highlanders, and Bill Purtell and Jack Thoney, of the Boston Red Sox.

SOUTH BEND HAS THE OLD SPIRIT

Harmony in the Ranks and Rivalry is Still Alive.

NOTES OF MEETING

Grand Rapids, Mich., Jan. 18.—Rudolph Horst, former sport writer on the South Bend Tribune and now secretary of the Greenstocking baseball club, is in attendance at the meeting and he says that his town has the best baseball prospect it has had since it started as a member of the Central league.

He says there is harmony in the ranks, that the city is united in its support of the new company, that the concern has plenty of money to get into the game right and is willing to wager anything from a good nickel cigar to a fall-of-1912 hat that his club will beat Fort Wayne in the race.

That old spirit of rivalry that had its birth with the inception of the league is still alive and the same old fight will be waged this season. To show that his club is right in the running the secretary and Manager Harry Arndt closed a deal with the Brooklyn club through Larry Sutton that will give them a left-handed pitcher who looked good enough for the Dodgers to buy last summer.

He won sixteen and lost thirteen games with Aurora in the Wisconsin-Illinois league last year, is twenty-two years old and was taken on an option agreement with the Brooklyn club.

Leon Foy, the little speeder whose career in baseball was short on account of his inability to hit, is at the meeting and says he has a little business. Just what it is nobody knows but it is possible that he has his eyes on one of the managerial jobs that are not taken.

He is timekeeper for a construction gang that is working on a big dam at Elkhart and is also manager of Senator Proctor's baseball club.

* * *

Edward J. alias "Goat" Anderson came over from South Bend to try to make connections with either the Zanesville or Wheeling management. Neither of the owners were here and he was disappointed but thinks he may land before the season opens.

W. W. Irwin, secretary of the Wheeling club, wrote to Dr. F. R. Carson saying he would not be here but that he and his associates would be perfectly satisfied with the action taken by the directors.

* * *

Bill Phillips, former manager of the Wheeling club, who will direct the destinies of the Youngstown team this season, attended the meeting with Paul T. Powers, president of the club. Bill is the same old optimistic manager he was in the Central league and says that he believes his city will draw well and will be able to hold its own in the new organization.

Mr. Powers was the president and organizer of the famous Hot Tamale club that created so much amusement at the San Antonio meeting last fall.

Larry Sutton sprung the only new story of the meeting. Larry says he was manager of a club in a little league in New York state several years ago and a fellow wrote for a job.

Sutton answered and told the fellow he would like to have him, but the league salary limit was $600 a month for each club and that he could not offer him a very big salary. The player wrote back and said he didn't want to embarrass him and he would play for $400 a month.

* * *

Joe Raidy came in from the farm with rubber boots on. He said it is the first time he has been down town since he came in the fall to take a train for North Adams, Mass. He wanted to get east in time to catch the train that makes an annual round trip to his old home.

He and his wife have a "little place" out of the city limits and the former Zanesville manager is now a gentleman agriculturist. "I will not manage the Zanesville club this season. I don't suppose the club owners want me any worse than I want to go back and it is likely I will not be in base ball this year. I haven't made up my mind yet, but I have nothing in view."

* * *

Ed Smith is framing up his Grand Rapids team and was on a deal with Larry Sutton for Pitcher Madden, but did not get on in time and the deal was closed with South Bend.

* * *

Louis Heilbroner was up from Fort Wayne in the interest of the best book ever gotten out in the way of base ball literature. It contains the name, address, weight, height and everything else about every ball player in the world and some in South Bend.

He is doing a thriving business and only stops now and then to sandwich in one of the stories he heard at the New York meeting last December.

* * *

John "Lefty" Core does not want to go to the Pacific coast this year and is living in the hope that some deal can be made by which he will be able to play with the Grand Rapids club. He is wintering here and taking a finishing course in veterinary surgery.

* * *

Harry Martin knocked off work in the county treasurer's office during the meeting and among other things had a long talk with Charley Carr, who will be his boss out at Kansas City this year. Carr is here in the interest of his base ball sundries establishment.

* * *

Manager M. E. Rice is here and when he is not looking after the interests of the "Light Eternal," which has been showing at the Majestic, he is mingling with the base ball fraternity.

FORT WAYNE GOT IN FOR SESSION

Schedule Meeting Will Be Held Here at Date to Be Set.

BIG DAY OF ROUTINE

(By Staff Correspondent.)

Grand Rapids, Mich., Jan. 18.—Next in importance to the probable sale of the Fort Wayne franchise at the Central league meeting here is the announcement that Bert R. Dennis started his career as a near magnate by securing the schedule meeting of the organization for Fort Wayne.

The time has not been fixed and will not be for a few weeks, but the league directors voted on the place and there was no objection offered. This will be the first meeting of the directors there since Claude H. Varnell gave the annual banquet celebrating the winning of the pennant at Springfield.

This marked the opening of his career in Fort Wayne. The directors got together and were closeted all of yesterday afternoon, barring the managers from the gathering, so that the directors would feel free to discuss the questions before them freely.

The revision of the by-laws to increase the circuit and to provide for the guarantee of $2,000 for each club was taken up and practically finished in committee and it is all ready to be put through before the gathering closes.

Dr. Carson's schedule is not meeting with general favor and there is big opposition to cutting down the number of games to 132, which would mean only three swings around the circuit for each of the clubs. Only a tentative schedule will be outlined here and the draft will be made afterward and the league will adopt the most satisfactory one when the officials get to Fort Wayne. Some agitation is aroused by the action of the Wheeling magnates who were not present at the meeting and who have apparently made no move to get a team together for next season.

Bert Annis entertained the visitors at a dinner last night at the Livingston hotel. It was an informal affair with no speech making and was thoroughly enjoyable. The magnates are here to attend strictly to business and to clear up all the kinks in the league without delay. To this end a meeting was held last night and resumed this morning.

Bade Myers, former manager of the Fort Wayne and Dayton teams, arrived late yesterday afternoon with the announcement that he had been twenty-eight hours on the road. Louis Heilbroner asked him if he was going to take a passenger train home.

There are three vacant berths in the Central league and it is just possible that he is looking for one of them. He managed the Canton club one season and that has no pilot, although Ed Criminger is spoken of for the place. This leaves only Wheeling and Zanesville to be filled if Canton owners have made their selection.

KING PUNISHES JEALOUS MAN.

Siamese Monarch Puts Attendant In Prison After Having Him Whipped.

Pangkok, Jan. 17.—An incident of the recent coronation of the new king of Siam which has come to the knowledge of Europeans shows how western notions do not always fit in with eastern custom.

The king has a strong predilection for amateur theatricals, and had arranged a performance in connection with the coronation. Rahsanart, a member of his suite, has a pretty wife, and he objected to her taking part in the performance, going to the length of sending her home from the theater during a rehearsal.

This action so incensed the king that he deprived the unfortunate man of his title, sentenced him to one year's imprisonment and ordered him to receive thirty blows with a rattan. The wife was compelled to go on attending the rehearsals.

The affair caused an unpleasant impression, not only among the Europeans in Siam, but also among the better class of Siamese. It is said the king of Siam proposes to favor the courts of Europe with a visit next autumn, and that he will be in England several months.

THE LOSS OF CLAUDE H. VARNELL

By CHAS. H. SPALDING.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Jan. 18.—Claude H. Varnell has not sold his interests in Fort Wayne yet, but Bert Dennis is certain that he can swing the deal by which the baseball holdings will pass into the hands of a local stock company and just at this time every surface indication points to the consummation of the sale.

Mr. Varnell took up baseball with the view of obtaining experience that he hoped would eventually land him in the majors as an owner and his reason for selling is that he may get a little bit nearer the goal. He is content with his treatment in Fort Wayne.

"I have lost a little money there, but I like the town and the people and I attribute my losses to baseball conditions. I have a lot of warm friends there and in leaving them I want to express my deep regret. All I want said of me is that for every dollar I have taken in at my gates I have provided a dollar's worth of amusement and I am perfectly satisfied.

"There are lots of things in this world better than money and if I have made some good friends in Fort Wayne and the deal for the club goes through I will never lose a minute's sleep about the money I have sunk in the venture."

Fort Wayne and the Central league will feel the loss of Claude Varnell. He came to Fort Wayne an utter stranger, spent his own money, lost his own money without a grumble and carries no bitterness away because the patronage was not what it should have been.

He is deeply sensitive and has been hurt more than he has ever told by failure to attract crowds. He took great pride in his baseball team and he could never conceive just why it did not draw and unfortunately took the burden upon himself.

With an engaging personality, absolute honesty and a geniality that has proven magnetic, he surrounded himself with staunch friends and they will undoubtedly be sorry to see him go. His financial obligations have been met with promptness and he has built and maintained the best park in the Central league, and if he has failed in any respect it has not been because he did not try at all times to be "on the square."

There is just one consolation for fandom. With Bert Dennis at the head of the club it will be carried on on the same high standard established by his predecessor. He begged Varnell not to sell, believing there is a good year in prospect, but when it came to a showdown and the situation was explained he worked in the interest of keeping the club ownership in Fort Wayne.

"Nobody on earth, home or not home people, would have done the good part by Fort Wayne that Claude has. Nobody can possibly kick on him. I know him and I know he has tried to do the right thing all the time."

Bert Dennis is a manager that the people of Fort Wayne can well afford to get behind and boost. He is clean-cut, a man of excellent business ability and proven honesty, he has had the experience to make a good baseball magnate of himself and he knows the game and knows how to take care of his patrons.

In the business office for Mr. Varnell he was polite, accommodating and always ready to do a good turn. He is well-known and popular and there is no man in the city who would have been more acceptable and who will be more worthy of good strong boosting than Bert Dennis.

ODDS AND ENDS OF SPORTING NEWS

Connie Mack says Harry Wolverton has the disposition to make a good manager. The head of the Athletics knows better than any one else what kind of a disposition is necessary for a manager.

Harry Davis is afraid to let Detroit have George Stovall, for the last time the Naps handed over a first baseman to the Tigers they started out on their furious winning career. Claude Rossman came from the Cleveland club.

The real truth is coming out now about the Dooin-Fogel row. It started as a press agent story, but both of the principals got mad before the story had been out many days and the battle was then on the square.

McGraw is right when he says that it is just as necessary to watch what the players eat and the quantity they eat as it is to have morning practice for batting or base stealing. More than one player has injured himself by overeating.

Some of the club owners are getting jealous because Comiskey has signed an assistant manager for Jimmy Callahan in Kid Gleason. Bob Hedges is now looking for a man to act as assistant to Bobby Wallace.

Hugbie Duffy will have to keep moving every minute of the time if he lives up to the expectations of the Milwaukee fans. They are looking for him to land there in a few weeks with the pennant already in his pocket.

"Slats" Sallee, of the Cardinals, has started the new year with his annual resolution to ride the water wagon. No report of his having fallen off has been received to date, but along about May 1, it is quite likely that one will appear.

Vean Gregg, the star young southpaw pitcher of the Naps, is a plasterer by trade and has been working at the trade all winter. His home is in Guldesue, Idaho, and the day he arrived home last fall he put in a bid to plaster the new hotel there and got the job.

Christy Mathewson hopes to be able to make a good living out of checker playing after his ball-playing days are over. He is regarded as one of the best men at the game and may be able to play to big crowds in his old age if he can win a championship or two.

President Tip O'Neill, of the Western league, has been unable to get away for his usual winter quarters in Oakland, Cal., so far this winter. He will go to Denver next month to hold the schedule meeting and from there he will sneak to the coast for a couple of months of that balmy sunshine.

George Mullin, the veteran pitcher of the Tigers, is the first man to come to bat with the prophecy that the Athletics may not prove to be as good this year as they were last season. George points to the way the Cubs went to pieces all at once and he might have pointed out how the Tigers fell apart over night also.

Jack Dunn, manager of the Baltimore team in the International league, bought Pitcher Pierce from Jake Atz, the manager of the Providence team in the same league, recently for 15 cents. The deal was a cash one, but the owner of the Providence club would not sanction the deal, so it did not go.

S. E. Mulholland Points Out Way to Better Gas Business.

ITS DUTY TO PUBLIC

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 18.—Addressing the Indiana Gas association in convention here yesterday, S. E. Mulholland, of Fort Wayne, president of the body, declared that careless, unaccommodating and unimproved service by the gas companies amounted in fact to the operation of business in restraint of their own trade.

He urged the highest efficiency and a constant consideration of the rights due the public, asserting that the value of a satisfied customer could not be overestimated. In part Mr. Mulholland said:

"Honest big business is today employing the best legal talent that can be secured to advise them in what, if any, particulars their methods of doing business are in conflict with the Sherman law and in restraint of trade, that they may so conduct their affairs in the future as to meet with the approval of the people.

"In the gas business all may feel that its very nature, confined as it is within the limits of cities, and not competing with other gas companies, makes them immune from any such charge, nevertheless most gas companies today are managing their businesses just as surely in restraint of their own trade.

"A great mercantile institution of this country, said to be the greatest of its kind in the world, from time to time publishes in the newspapers a series of business editorials, being in fact its creed; and in setting same forth as the service and spirit of a great store uses the following quotation from Woodrom Wilson as a preface: 'Profits are legitimate only when they come from service,' and a retail business is described as an organization that deals with things in the particular and the little.

"This is more especially true of a gas company than any other line of business for the reason that we retail a commodity that supplies the homes of a city with an article that has become a necessity, comfort and convenience of the home.

"The purchaser of the product of a gas or electric compan yis not so much concerned about the rate per 1,000 cubic feet or kilowatt, the very meaning of which quantity terms to the majority are not at all clear as are the yard, bushel or pound measure that other merchants' goods are sold by, as what they receive for their dollar. A two-dollar gas bill for a month's poor light, or smoking, sooty gas range and insufficient gas pressure, resulting in failure to have properly cooked meals on time, abundance of hot water when wanted, and other annoyances, causes a complaint and enmity toward the company owing for payment for such service that is recalled whenever a political agitation arises regarding rates; and the customer who would have been a friend if he had had the full economy, convenience and luxury of appliances in proper condition and right service in general, without these will naturally be found a foe.

"To furnish service does not mean takin gthe dividends on their investinent that stockholders are rightfully entitled to, but, on the contrary, it will entail little, if any, additional expense in having a more zealous and painstaking effort by every employe insisted upon, to the end that those who support the company by their patronage and thereby cause the property to have any value whatever as an earning concern over a junk proposition, such as it would necessarily become, receive the full amount of value they ere entitled to for each dollar spent by them in exchange for the commodity being furnished them; but even in the event a slightly increased expenditure should be necessary to substitute an employe of the above naved type for one who cannot be brought to a realization of the imperative necessity of such service, or an additional employe added to insure greater promptness in attending to the demands of customers, such expense will be returned to the owners of the property many times over in many ways—the asset value of an enthusiastic customer cannot be measured—his value cannot be overestimated."

Local W. C. T. U. Outlines Plans in Resolutions.

Broader scope of work by the Fort Wayne Women's Christian Temperance union was outlined in a resolution adopted at the regular meeting Wednesday afternoon as follows:

"The Woman's Christian Temperance union wishes to state to the citizens of Fort Wayne and to the public in general that whereas we have a special department for work for the purpose of agitating the establishment of juvenile courts, industrial education and anti-child labor, and also a department whose first aim is to educate and to instill into the minds of the young the knowledge of the injury done by tobacco, and to teach adults the effects of tobacco, opium and other narcotics, not only upon the parent but also upon the offspring and also to secure laws prohibiting the sale of all narcotics, including tobacco in all its forms, and whereas, we stand for God and home and native land, we are heartily in sympathy with the movement on foot in our city along these lines."

Mrs. George W. Pixley is chairman of the committee which drafted the resolution and the committee members submitting the report are Mrs. J. E. Protzeller and Mrs. A. B. Nivens.

Mrs. Martha Ridenour, county president, submitted an interesting report of the recent national convention at Milwaukee.

New Painless Way to Remove Stray Hairs

(Beauty Adviser.)

A powder known as delatone is rapidly replacing the electric needle for removing hairs not wanted. This is easy to apply, quite harmless and quick in action—all that is required is to mix enough of the delatone with water to cover the hairy surface, apply and let remain two or three minutes, then rub off and wash the skin.

Seldom is the second application necessary, and while druggists charge a dollar an ounce for delatone, it is well worth the cost to those bothered with superfluous hairs. Those who use delatone say that aside from banishing the objectionable hairs, it leaves the skin soft and white.

Her husband, Paul Kellogg, was adopted by Dr. Kellogg as a baby and had been sent to a Tennessee school to study, being only 19 years old. BLAME MILKMAN FOR ILLNESS.

Boston Citizens, in Public Meeting, Say Early Calls Cause Insomnia.

Boston, Mass., Jan. 18.—Not lobster suppers, easy living, or the fast pace of American life cause the insomnia prevalent among the wealthy of Boston.

Physicians and leading citizens were summoned to show that the early milkman was the cause of most of the insomnia. Miss Ida G. Beal went further and said that they cause her nervous breakdown. C. A. Coolidge went still further and said that he had felt the ill effects. Rev. James J. Richards went the limit and said the milkman oftentimes hastened the death of sick people.

The milk companies said that if the Back Bay wants to pay more for its milk it can have it at later hours.

Charles Durham, Lovington, Ill., has succeeded in finding a positive cure for bed wetting. "My little boy wet the bed every night clear through to the floor. I tried several kinds of kidney medicine and I was in the drug store looking for something different to help him when I heard of Foley Kidney Pills. After he had taken them two days we could see a change and when he had taken two-thirds of a bottle he was cured. That is about six weeks ago and he has not wet in bed since." Dreier Drug Co.

See the O-Cedar Oil Mops Now Being Demonstrated

An oil mop, if it is the right sort, is one of the most helpful things about the house. The O-Cedar Mops are right because they are scientific in every way.

The O-Cedar Oil with which they are treated, is a varnish food, not merely a polish. It gives wood grain the original polish by restoring its natural beauty.

O-Cedar Mops are made ring-shape, and the handles are put in at an angle which permits using the mop for all sorts of woodwork, and under furniture. Nothing about them to scratch or mar. Now being demonstrated at our store.

ANDREW JACOBS HAS ARM BROKEN

Well Known Electric Works Employe Fell While Going to Shop.

JOHN R. CONICK RESUMES OLD JOB

Is Assistant Foreman of Round House After a Long Absence.

Andrew Jacobs, residing at 1212 Stophelt street, is a victim of the ice and slush on the walks. As he was en route to the Fort Wayne Electric works at 6:30 o'clock this morning he slipped and fell and fractured the bone of his left forearm. Mr. Jacobs is one of the old employes at the Electric works, having been employed many years in the department of which Adolph F. Strube is the foreman. About two years ago he was transferred to the shipping department, where he was engaged in packing small goods for shipment.

NEARLY AN ACCIDENT.

Engine With Broken Wheel Pulls Fast Train Ten Miles.

When Engineer Bonds of the Wabash Continental Limited backed his engine onto a siding at Huntington a few days ago to pick up an express car, one of the wheels left the rails and an investigation revealed the fact that a section of the wheel had broken out and the piece could not be found. Then it occurred to the conductor that he noticed an unusual jar as the train was passing Roanoke, ten miles east of Huntington, and concluded that the wheel was broken at that time. The escape from accident is considered a miracle. Had the train left the track when it was moving at the usual speed out on the road, loss of life would certainly have resulted. The train was held at Huntington until another engine could be sent there from Peru.

SAVED TRAMP'S LIFE.

Removed from Tender Beam Before It Struck Water Scoop.

As Engineer William Kahoe, with westbound Pennsylvania fast train No. 23, approached Dunkirk, Ohio, yesterday he was surprised to find a signal to stop and he brought the train to a standstill. Then it developed that a tramp was riding "blind baggage" behind the tender and as the train passed through one of the towns east of Dunkirk, he was seen by the operator. The latter reported the case to the main office and instructions were given to stop the train and drive the fellow off before it reached Dola, where the engine takes water from the track tanks. Had the tramp not been discovered he would have been flooded when the engine took water at Dola and if not killed outright by falling to the track, he would have frozen to death before a stop was made.

AGAIN A YARD FOREMAN.

Joseph Stephen Back on Old Job at Bass Foundry.

Joseph Stephen resumed the foremanship of the upper end of the Bass foundry yards this morning, under General Yard Foreman J. Sion Smith. Mr. Stephen resigned that position about six months ago and went west, but finding nothing better to do out there, he came back to Fort Wayne and since his return was employed at different places.

RESUMED OLD JOB.

John R. Conick Assistant Foreman at Round House.

This morning John R. Conick resumed the duties of assistant foreman at the Pennsylvania round house, after an absence of seven or eight months. Last June he was assigned to special work, among which was the tests of the various types of locomotives in use on the Pennsylvania.

BALDWIN PLANT AT CALUMET.

The rumor that the Baldwin Locomotive works would establish a big locomotive plant at Calumet has received official confirmation by the announcement that the plant will cover 370 acres, will employ upwards of 6,500 men and will cost about $5,000,000. In the start it is proposed to provide facilities for building ten locomotive a week, but when necessary a greater output will be possible. The new plant will be tapped by the Pennsylvania, the Chicago Terminal, the Baltimore and Ohio, the Elgin, Joliet and Eastern, the Lake Shore and the South Bend Electric railroads.

AUXILIARY ENTERTAINMENT.

Nickel Plate division, No. 513, Grand International Auxiliary to the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, will give its first annual entertainment at Minuet hall tomorrow evening. The program will consist of dancing and progressive pedro and the committee report a big sale of tickets and anticipate a large crowd.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

H. E. Creigh has resumed his work at the Pennsylvania machine shop after a week's illness.

M. L. Lauer, F. Beyrau and H. A. Lommatsch, Pennsylvania shopmen, are sick and off duty.

E. F. Prange, of the Pennsylvania erecting shop, who was sick two weeks, resumed his duties this morning.

J. C. Vachon, blacksmith helper at the Pennsylvania, sustained a painful wound on his right arm yesterday when struck by a heavy bar. The injury was dressed by the company's surgeon.

William Fellows, an eastern division conductor, running in and out of Bellevue and well known to the Nickel Plate trainmen of this city, sustained some painful injuries a few days ago when he was thrown against the cupola window and had his face cut on the broken glass.

E. V. McGrath, the newly appointed traveling passenger and freight agent of the Lafayette-Peru division of the Fort Wayne and Northern Indiana Traction railroad, will have headquarters in Lafayette. He has already taken up his duties.

P. H. Williams, agent of the Northern Ohio at Vaughnsville, Ohio, is supposed to have been foully dealt with. He left his home to go to Lima last Friday and has not been heard from since. His accounts with the company are said to be square and his friends can assign no reason for his disappearance.

The general passenger agents at the meeting in Chicago this week decided to allow Sunday excursions in 1912 under the rules and rates which governed the business last year; also the excursions to Niagara Falls and Atlantic City. In fact, there will be no change in excursion business this summer in this territory over that of last summer.

According to bulletins posted on the boards at the Nickel Plate, employes of the road may now purchase tickets of ticket agents, securing a receipt for same and later secure a refund of the money. The rule applies only in cases of emergency. Heretofore it has been customary for the employes to pay cash fares to train conductors in such cases and then present train checks for the refund.

HOUSEKEEPING OUTFITS

We estimate that we sell considerably more than half of all the Housekeeping Outfits bought in Fort Wayne. Perhaps we ought to be satisfied with that, for we have a number of splendid business competitors. But we are not. We propose to make 1912 a record breaking year for our Fort Wayne store, and to do that we must have even more of these big bills that go to make up Housekeeping Outfits.

How are we to get them? First, by making smaller profits, thus lowering prices. That we shall do.

Second: By giving a 5 per cent. discount to customers paying all cash at time of purchase. We shall continue to do that.

Third: By a free extension of credit, at cash prices for their goods, to any person whose reputation for paying bills is not bad. Credit customers should not forget that cash houses, like ours, can save them a lot of money and also give them better goods.

Fourth: By continuing to keep an assortment so much larger than our competitors that you will always be able to get better suited with us than anywhere else.

HERMAN H. LIMBACH, JR.

JAP POACHERS SLAY ALBATROSS

Uncle Sam Doing His Best to Protect Birds and Animals.

HAVOC IS WROUGHT

Oklahoma City, Okla., Jan. 18.—W. K. Brewster, game law expert for the United States department of agriculture, and his brother, W. K. Brewster, who is assisting him, were in the city for several days arranging to have a number of tion of its preservation is a big one, and federal government's game preserve near Fort Sill, Comanche county. Before entering the service of the government Mr. Brewster for many years was connected with the Michigan state fish and game warden's office.

The United States now has thirty-seven bird and game refuges, Mr. Brewster stated, and in these preserves, owned and maintained by the government, all game is protected. The question of its preservation is a big one, and one in which the federal authorities are deeply interested.

The bureau of biological survey, which is the branch of the department of agriculture having the game question in charge, works in conjunction with the game wardens of the various states, and assists in handling violators of the law. Of course the department cannot handle violations in the states themselves, but when game is killed unlawfully and shipped to other states, the federal government then can step in.

One of the thirty-seven refuges, Mr. Brewster stated, is located on the islands of Lysianski and Lasan, in the Hawaiian group. The islands are uninhabited, and there sea birds in countless millions find a refuge.

Last year a government revenue cutter, which had been in Alaska on official business, was ordered to visit the two islands and see how the preserve was getting on. There they found that Japanese poachers were at work, and arrested and convicted twenty-three of them.

The Japs had ready for shipment 480,000 albatross wings, which meant that they had slaughtered at least 240,000 of the birds, with the probabilities that many more had been killed and the wings shipped to Japan.

"One of the questions we are trying to work out," said Mr. Brewster, "is the preservation of the elk, which is disappearing rapidly. Last year a careful census, taken by our department, showed that there are not more than 60,000 elk in the country, while five years ago there were ten times that number. To prevent the species from becoming entirely extinct is a big problem.

"One of the plans considered is that of distributing elk among the public parks and zoological gardens throughout the country and placing them directly under the care of lodges of B. P. O. Elks, an order which took its name from the noble game animal.

"There are thousands of elks in Jackson Hole, Montana, and in Wyoming, but it is evident that they cannot survive there long. About 5,000 or 6,000 of the animals started there during the past winter.

"These game reservations, or refuges, established by the government are not only a good thing in preserving the various species of game birds and animals, but they also are a benefit to the states in which they are located. The game multiplies in the reservation and naturally it spreads to the surrounding territory, where it may be killed by hunters."

The department with which Mr. Brewster is connected issues bulletins dealing with the work, and it is the object to provide for the protection, propagation and preservation of game in a thoroughly systematic and effective manner.

WAS IT PAWPAW TEMPTED ADAM?

Prof. Troop Certain the Fruit He Ate Was No More Delicious.

IN EDEN'S GARDEN

Lafayette, Ind., Jan. 18.—Indiana as the original Garden of Eden and the pawpaw, or Indiana banana, as the fruit that caused all the trouble in that prehistoric pleasure park, is a theory that adapts itself very readily to the belief of Prof. James Troop, entomologist at the Purdue university experiment station. At any rate, he is sure that the fruit Eve found so pleasant to her taste that she had to invite her susceptible spouse to partake of it with her, was not one whit more attractive.

"It is a splendid fruit for home use," he said. "It has a great variety of flavors, some sweet and delicious, while others are coarse and not especially desirable, but are, nevertheless, more enjoyable than many of our other wild fruits, such as the persimmon. It is now found growing wild in various sections from Kansas to Pennsylvania and from Michigan to the gulf, the southern species being unusually large and delicious.

"The fruit, when fully ripe, has a yellow or white flesh of the consistency of custard. This occasions its popular name, 'custard apple.' Some people prefer to eat it from the hand, without any accompaniments; but it is also excellent when eaten with cream and sugar, and is often used in making marmalade or fruit pudding. It may also be dried and kept almost indefinitely—and, incidentally, there is the possibility that its propagation would result in the elimination of the very delectable but vigorously condemned 'boarding house prunes.'

"The common belief is that frost is necessary to ripen the fruit, but, as in the case of the Indiana persimmon, this is entirely wrong. In Central Indiana some varieties begin to ripen in September, others in October, but some of the later species will hang on the trees until early winter."

WELL KNOWN SHOPMAN DEAD

After Illness of Six Days H. H. Limbach Succumbs to Pneumonia

WAS PROMINENT IN LOCAL BALL CIRCLES

Played First Base in Pennsylvania Shop League Team.

Herman Limbach, jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Limbach, died this morning at 5:15 o'clock at the family residence, 1119 Wall street, from pneumonia following an illness of six days.

Herman H. Limbach was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Limbach, of 1119 Wall street. He was born November 28, 1889, and was twenty-two years, one month and twenty days old. In addition to the parents, a sister, Miss Laura Limbach, and two brothers, Henry and Arthur Limbach, survive him. The deceased was a member of the Emmaus church and the Young Men's Bowling team of that church. He was also a member of the Iroquois club, the Pennsylvania Shop League baseball team and the Pennsylvania Relief association. No young man ever enjoyed the regard and good will of his acquaintances to a greater degree than Herman H. Limbach. In the shop he was always good natured, kindhearted, considerate of the rights of his associates and ready at all times to respond to a call for aid in any worthy case. He was a particular favorite in baseball circles not only at the Pennsylvania shops, but in amateur ball circles generally about the city. He played first base for the Pennsylvania Shop League team and his death will also be a severe blow to the team.

The funeral will be held from the house, 1119 Wall street, at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon and at 2:30 o'clock from the Emmaus church. A sermon in German will be delivered by Rev. Philip Wambsganss and Rev. Fred Wambsganss will deliver a sermon in English. The pall-bearers will probably be selected from the associates of the deceased at the shops and from the ranks of the ball team and the men at the shops will turn out to the funeral in a body.

Young Limbach was a blacksmith in the employ of the Pennsylvania company. He entered the shop as an apprentice at the forge July 5, 1906, completed his apprenticeship in July, 1910, and was immediately given charge of one of the "fires," which he operated up to the time of his late sickness.

The Turbine.

The first steam turbine-fitted vessel was constructed by the Hon. C. A. Parsons at his works at Newcastle-on-Type. The Turbinia, a small vessel 100 feet in length, made her trial trip November 4, 1894. The system rapidly developed owing to increased speed of the vessels fitted with turbine engines and the economy effected in coal; improvements were made in their construction, and today the turbine ship is popular the world over.

OHIO TRIPLET IS BORN WITH TOOTH

New Yorker Bets Its First Words Were "I Accept the Nomination."

Akron, Ohio, Jan. 18.—Sympathy of all the fond papas in this city went out to Arthur Vandersall, when his wife presented triplets, one of whom had a perfectly formed tooth. They were able to appreciate his great sorrow in being deprived later of the chance to say, "Baby's got a tooth," an announcement invariably followed by an individual celebration on the part of the proud parent. To be robbed of the opportunity of making the speech which every married man rehearses for weeks seemed too much for one man to bear, and many of the local dealers in coochee-coochee-coo talk sent messages of condolence to him.

"Aside from the misfortune of being robbed of the greatest joy in a married man's life, just think of the hard luck of having a baby born with a tooth these times, with all sorts of food bringing prohibitive prices," was the way another sympathizer put it. "Yes, it's a boy, the other members of the delegation being girls. While his sisters will be content with milk for a year at least, he will have to have steak and chops from the start, in order to exercise that tooth. That youngster will be demanding evening clothes before he is six months old."

"Beats all, the way nature favors these Ohio babies," complained a New Yorker, who hasn't any teeth. "Here a youngster arrives all ready to tackle a beefsteak dinner, while I have to be content with gruel. I've been drinking my meals for years. Bet a dollar, if you investigate, you will find that the first thing he said was, 'I accept the nomination.'"

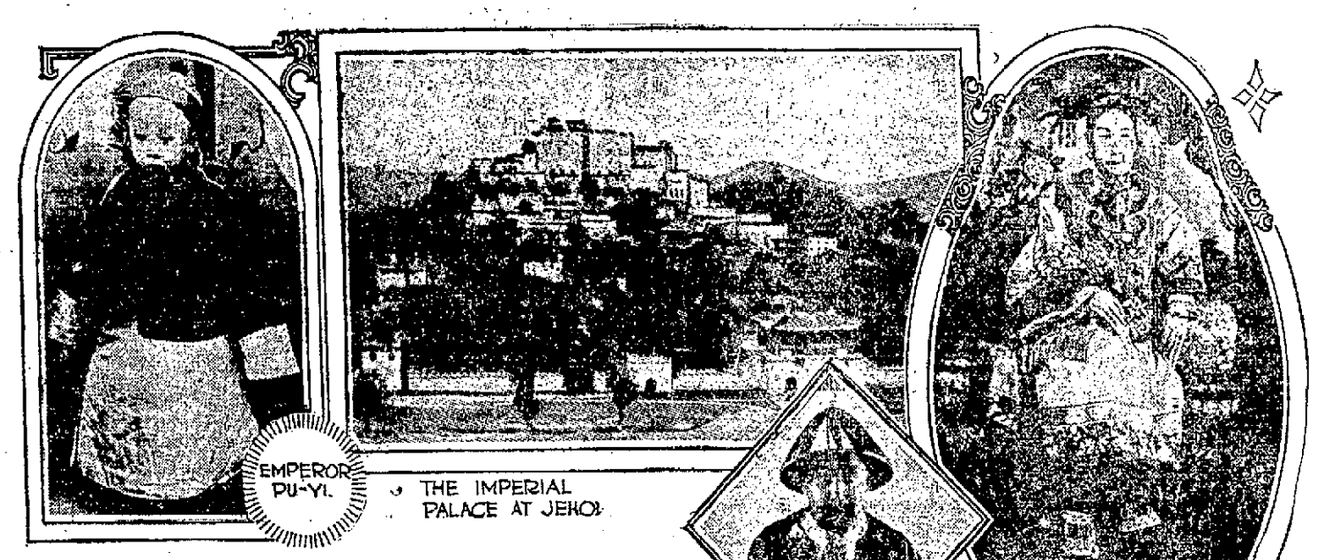
THE REFUGE OF THE MANCHUS IN THE MOUNTAINS OF MONGOLIA IS A DREAMLAND PALACE



When the fall of the Manchu dynasty began to appear inevitable it was stated that the court would flee in case of need to its old refuge among the mountains of Mongolia, 150 miles to the north of Pekin. The palace, with a surrounding galaxy of temples, lies in the valley near the small military town of Jehol. Temples and palace were built about two hundred years ago by order of the great Emperor Chien-lung, the first in an attempt to shift the centre of Buddhist influence from Thibet to Mongolia, the second as a cool pleasure resort in summer.

The Potala, a huge square building, is modelled on the great temple at Lhasa, and there are three others of varying magnificence, each with its complement of lamas. Opposite the Valley of Temples lies the palace, a kingdom of dreams—willow pattern come to life—set in a semicircle of little green hills.

The palace consists of one story buildings with yellow tiled roofs built round flagged courtyards and shaded with fine trees. There are splendid bronzes in the neglected courtyards, and rumor tells of many treasures hidden away within the palace walls not to be seen by the prying eyes of foreigners.

In the grounds are small temples, a theatre, an immense pagoda, tallest and most perfect of its kind, and everywhere pavilions, large and small, one to suit each mood of the art loving Emperor who designed them—one for poetry, one for learning, one for the old and one for the young—even one for rainy days. There is all that skill and taste could furnish for a king's delight in summer time, but for all its beauty the court may find its refuge bleak and chill among the [illegible] hills.

MORE WAGES OR STRIKE.

London, Jan. 18.—The ballot taken by the coal miners of Great Britain, the result of which was officially declared this afternoon, was overwhelmingly in favor of a strike for a fixed minimum wage. The actual figures were: For, 445,801; against, 115,925. Notices to quit work will doubtless promptly be handed in by the miners and this will bring about a national stoppage of coal mining on March 1. The intervening weeks, however, give plenty of time for negotiations between the employers and the workers and mediation may avert what would otherwise prove a national calamity.

CATTLE THRIVE WITHOUT DRINK

Animals in Hawaii Do Not Know How Water Tastes.

MOISTURE IN CACTUS

Topeka, Kan., Jan. 18.—William Layon my ranch that do not know what water is, and will not drink it if it is brought before them. They have never tasted water. I have good fat cattle that have never seen water and would not know how to act if water touched them. I have other cattle that I have imported from the United States which have not tasted a drop of water since being turned out on my cactus and bluegrass pastures. They have lived for years without water and are as fat as any grass-fed cattle in the United States. They make just as good beef as you get in any restaurant."

These statements were made in sober earnest by Robert Hind, millionaire sugar planter and ranch man of Honolulu.

When water holes go dry on our own western ranges cattle men hurry their stock out of the country. The price of beef on the hoof goes down and the price of meat goes up. Dry years mean panic among the owners of cattle, and the owner of pure-breds in the United States wouldn't think of buying a $1,000 bull and putting him on a ranch that had neither stream, spring nor well on it. He would die of thirst in less than a week.

Mr. Hind has bought six valuable bulls. He will buy several more before he returns to his island ranch. And when he does take the animals back he will turn them loose in a pasture of cactus and blue-grass growing upon volcanic soil in which there is absolutely no water for drinking purposes. And the animals will thrive as others of their kind, have thrived which Mr. Hind brought here a year ago.

"America is letting a lot of unsalable land lie idle in what are now barren wastes," said Mr. Hind. "If you would import the great spineless cactus of Hawaii and plant the wastes with it you would soon have fine pastures for cattle and a pasturage that makes stock water unnecessary. Think of the possibilities in the millions of acres of unused and supposedly unsalable land in your country.

"We have imported blue-grass from Kentucky and orchard grass from other parts of the United States, and our cattle live for a good part of the year on these grasses without water, so luxuriantly do they grow and so much moisture do they contain. When it becomes exceedingly dry and the grasses are not doing well, we turn the cattle and horses into cactus pastures. I have kept one lot of seventy-five cattle in a twenty-acre pasture of cactus for three months, and they are doing well. They put on flesh just as cattle do in your luxuriant Missouri pastures, but my cattle are without water.

"The fruit of the spineless cactus is much like that of the prickley pear of America, but is larger. We fatten our pigs, chickens and turkeys on it. Any domestic animal in Hawaii will eat it, and it is a great flesh producer."

Mr. Hind started as a sugar planter and made a fortune. Then he bought a few thousand acres next to his plantation and imported Herefords, shorthorns and Polled Angus cattle from New Zealand. That was ten years ago. He now has sold all his cattle, except Herefords and Polled Angus. He has 2,500 cattle, 2,000 sheep and a large number of horses on his ranch now. He handles nothing but pure bred stock.

LIFE CONVICT GETS FERLOUGH

"Cap'n Dan" Kendall, Mayor of Sulphur, Brings Governor Around.

HE'S UNIQUE BOSS

Oklahoma City, Okla., Jan. 18.—Through the ministrations of "Cap'n Dan" Kendall, mayor of Sulphur and proud of it, Life Convict Robert S. Watham is enjoying a thirty-day furlough with his wife in the Oklahoma health resort. This is his second holiday leave of absence from the state penitentiary.

Watham is 68 years old and his wife is old and feeble. Last year Mayor "Cp'n Dan" appealed to the governor to let Watham out for a month so that he could spend Christmas and New Year's with Mrs. Watham and make her happy. The governor granted the plea. This year "Cap'n Dan" visited Governor Cruce and informed the executive that now the precedent had been established and Watham must be let out on parole over the holidays every year.

"You can't afford to go up against the mayor of Sulphur," he told the governor. "I'm boss of the town, king bee of politicians in Murray county, and if you turn me down in Watham's case you'll never be able to redeem your political fortunes in my bailiwick, governor."

Just Like Free Rent.

So now the life-timer is the most fortunate of his class of convicts in the United States, for he looks forward to a month at home every year he lives. He says it's just like getting a month's house rent free, proffered by the real estate agent to keep one from moving. He drinks daily drafts of the health-giving water from the springs of Sulphur, takes his wife out for sunshine and fresh air, calls on the mayor and swaps stories of prison life for "Cap'n Dan's" tales of the days when he fought for the confederacy, and is temporarily happy.

When Watham's furlough is up he will go back to prison, confident that so long as "Cap'n Dan" lives no governor of Oklahoma will dare to refuse him his annual holiday liberty.

Mayor "Cap'n Dan" is a unique character in Oklahoma politics. He entered the confederate army at the age of 16 and won a captaincy before he was 20. Four of his brothers were in the army with him. One of them, John W. Kendall, represented the Tenth Kentucky district in congress for many years, dying in the service. About 20 years ago "Cap'n Dan" settled in Indian Territory and was appointed clerk of the United States court for the southern district. He squatted on land near Sulphur thirteen years ago, before congress passed the act setting aside several thousand acres, including the sulphur springs, as a national park and a health resort governed under conditions similar to those which apply to the government reservation at Hot Springs, Ark.

The "Cap'n" again got into war against the United States, for the land on which he had settled became a part of the national park. He had built a house and outhouses, which the government agents moved off the park area. The "Cap'n" moved them back, but finally consented to settle permanently in the town of Sulphur, then a village, but now a city of 6,000. He immediately became town boss. He was elected mayor and re-elected. In all he has been elected to seven terms, having retired twice just to let younger men have a chance. He says he is going to be elected county judge next year.

"Sulphur is the hardest town in the state to govern," he says. "You may think I like the job, but that's where you are mistaken. I simply feel that the municipal government cannot be operated successfully without me. That's why I stay on the job. Sometimes the city council gets recalcitrant, just as boys will do sometimes, and I get on my rignity and call them down. I tell them where they got on, the way they are traveling and where they can get off, and before I'm through with my lecture they are as docile as pet pigs.

"I know how to manage them; that's the secret of my success. The town is split into two factions. A creek separates them. We have had fights, explosions, killings and backbitings even, but I have stood my ground. I am mayor of all the people. I preach it from the housetops day and night, and the people believe me. There is one man under the sun who can cure a backbiting cancer in a municipality. I am that man."

BROTHERS MEET AFTER 45 YEARS

Long Period of Separation Ends in Happy Reunion.

PARENTS HAD PARTED

Denver, Jan. 18.—After having been separated for forty-five years two brothers have just been reunited. Edward Mercer and John Mercer Newman were parted when they were two years and a half old, respectively.

Mr. and Mrs. Mercer, who had lived in Iowa, quarreled and decided to separate. The mother took the youngest child with her and fled to Central City, Col. When she had been there a short time she found that she was unable to care for her baby and gave him for adoption to Mr. and Mrs. Newman. She herself married again shortly afterward and left the state, never to be heard from until the time of her death twenty years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Newman moved to Fraser, Col., and there the younger brother was educated and grew to manhood.

In the meantime the father had gone to Chicago with his son Edward. All trace of his wife and other son had disappeared, and when, after the death of his father, fifteen years ago, Edward Mercer started out to search for his brother, he found that the only knowledge he had of his whereabouts was that he was in Colorado.

He wrote to most of the small towns throughout the state, asking the postmasters for information, but it so happened that he did not write to Fraser, and since his brother was known as John Mercer-Newman no one in the towns nearby thought of connecting this man with the man for whom information was asked.

Each brother despaired of ever finding the other, when three weeks ago Edward chanced to meet in Chicago two westerners who hailed from Fraser. He at once began to make inquiries and discovered that these people were friends of a man named John Mercer-Newman. He wrote at once to the address which they gave him and the answer which he received convinced him that his search was at an end. As soon as business arrangements permitted he made a flying trip to Denver, where he was met by his correspondent, and the two soon proved from old papers and pictures in the possession of each other that they were brothers.

"My brother is going to change his name back to Mercer," said Edward Mercer. "He was never legally adopted and as both his foster parents are dead now there is no reason why he should not resume his own name. He is running a sawmill now up in Fraser, but his daughter, Minnie Mercer-Newman, is living in Denver and attending school. My brother and I are going to spend as much time as we can together in the future.

WAGER HELPS TO BOOM A CHURCH

Des Moines Christian Endeavor Factions After Attendance.

HOPE TO WIN FEAST

Des Moines, Ia., Jan. 18.—Interesting church attendance on a wager is the latest innovation in Des Moines. After all other means of arousing interest had failed this method has resulted in packing the santuary to overflowing. This decided innovation is being worked out at the Clifton Heights Presbyterian church in this city, of which the Rev. Mr. Howard is pastor. It is under the direction of the Christian Endeavor society.

This organization of the church was struggling along with eighteen members. Everything else had been tried to enlarge the attendance, with no avail. So the propostion was made to divide the membership into two teams, who should compete for attendance, with the provision that at the end of three weeks the team with the smallest average attndance to its credit shall give a banquet to the entire membership of the league, including all new members.

Miss Stella Cunningham is leader of one team and Miss Ruth Brown, chairman of the other. The meeting room of the Christian Endeavor has been divided and the new attendants each time sit on one side allotted to the leader that induced them to come. The plan has worked beyond expectations. Despite the fact that it has been in operation but two weeks, the attendance last Sunday jumped from eighteen to 110.

As in all contests for prizes everything doesn't run without criticism, and Miss Brown has complained as unfair Miss Cunningham's bringing her Sunday school class of fifteen ten-year-old children to the Endeavor meeting to swell their record. The spirit of contest has waxed so warm that effort for individual attendance is now relegated from the program and leaders are searching out the largest families in South Des Moines to get them to go to church and take all their children. If the membership keeps on increasing the proposed banquet will cost the nine leaders a small fortune.

BEMOAN WASTE OF NATURAL GAS

Muncie Field, Once Regarded as Inexhaustible, Near an End.

MADE FEW WEALTHY

Muncie, Jan. 18.—Natural gas was discovered in Muncie twenty-five years ago New Year's day, and it resulted in the accession of 20,000 to the population of the city within a few years.

Within the next six months, however, the Indiana gas belt, except for country towns and farmhouses, where the fuel is being supplied in small quantities, will probably be a thing of the past, and the agency that brought to the state many millions of dollars by the location of great factories employing many thousands of men, will be at an end. Most of the factories have remained and have continued to contribute to the prosperity of gas belt communities, although some have been removed to locations where fuel is cheaper or more easily obtainable.

It is proposed to continue to supply natural gas to Muncie consumers at the rate of 50 cents a thousand cubic feet, in competition with the Central Indiana company, which, it is understood, intends to charge 50 cents a thousand for the artificial product when its big plant here is in successful operation.

The tales told by the older residents of Muncie concerning the magic wrought by natural gas in Indiana read like stories from fairyland. Theodore F. Rose, president of the Union National bank here, had to be coaxed to invest a thousand dollars in the first natural gas company formed. Several enthusiasts put in small sums and persuaded Mr. Rose to invest $1,000. Mr. Rose soon afterward became owner of the Muncie Natural Gas company, which supplied the city with practically all the fuel used here for many years. After he and his associates had been made rich out of the proceeds of their small investments, they sold out to big advantage and Mr. Rose became one of the city's wealthiest men.

James Boyce, who was known as Muncie's richest citizen and who died last summer, was the heaviest contributor to the project of sinking a gas well in Muncie immediately after gas had been struck near Eaton. Natural gas made Mr. Boyce wealthy within a few years. In the course of a year practically all business houses and homes in Muncie were using natural gas, paying for it a nominal rate and thinking the bountiful supply would last forever.

When gas was first found near Eaton and Muncie, excursions were run to the well sites and the gas was lighted at the top of the casings and millions of feet of the precious fluid was wasted weekly in these public demonstrations for the benefit of the excursionists. Almost every farmer had a flaming flambeau in his front yard. Everybody believed the supply was limitless and it was used with prodigality. Chicken houses were heated by gas to make the hens lay. Great factories used natural gas as fuel without restriction, and for $2 a month, or even less, one might light and heat his home.

What was true of Muncie and vicinity eventually became true of the other towns and cities of the gas belt. Anderson, Marion, Winchester, Alexandria, Elwood and a dozen or more other cities grew from sleepy agricultural towns into thriving manufacturing cities.

Then came the awakening to the fact that the supply of natural gas is not without its limits and meters were installed. Next the factories began substituting coal for gas. Soon afterward those factories that owed their ability to operate solely to the fact of cheap fuel in the form of natural gas, began to disappear. The substantial factories remained and are still here, while new industries are constantly being added, the fuel problem having been solved by means of cheap coal for direct application to furnaces or for use in the making of producer gas.

THE MAN WITH A TOUPEE

Might Have Had a Good Head of Hair.

The man who wears a toupee does no like it, but has the courage of his convictions.

Nature never intended that the top of the head should be left entirely without protection. A bald head is very susceptible to contraction of colds and neuralgia. Wearing an artificial top piece counteracts this tendency, and, aside from the improvement in the personal appearance, is amply justified.

How much better it would have been had the man, now chronically bald and wearing a toupee, had realized earlier in life the approaching danger and devoted a little regular attention to his hair, which would have saved it.

There is a remedy which will absolutely prevent baldness. Loss of hair in nine cases out of ten is unnecessary, being due to dandruff and the germ that causes it. This germ must be destroyed and the accumulations of dandruff checked. Then the hair will not fall out, but instead will grow naturally and luxuriantly.

Newbro's Herpicide is the remedy, regular applications of which will do this. It has long been known as the original remedy that kills the dandruff germ and is absolutely dependable.

So reliable is this preparation that all druggists now sell the one dollar size bottles of Herpicide with a binding guarantee to refund the money if unsatisfactory.

Drives Catarrh out of the System

THE DAY OF DRUGS IS PAST.
HOME TREATMENT PROVES MOST EFFECTIVE.

Catarrh is no longer merely a misfortune. It is a sin. There is no excuse for you to make yourself and everybody about you miserable because of offensive breath, nasal speech and a generally unhealthy condition due to chronic catarrh. You can cure yourself at home, simply, safely and quickly.

Mix together two ounces of glycerine, eight ounces of pure whiskey and half an ounce of virgin oil of pine. Take a teaspoonful every four hours. The tightness in the nose and throat will loosen up in a few hours. Breathing will become free, head noises will cease and the fetid breath will become sweet. Sympathetic disorders of the urinary passages will disappear.

Virgin oil of pine is the quickest and surest of all nature's antidotes for diseases of this character. It is said to cure the worst colds inside of twenty-four hours. See that the label of the Leach Chemical Company, of Cincinnati, Ohio, is on the carton containing the virgin oil of pine, as this label is the guarantee of purity and freshness.

HEIRESS WHO RAN AWAY

VIOLET BUEHLER.

Pretty black eyed Violet Buehler, the fifteen-year-old Chicago heiress for whom the entire country had been searching, was located in New York city, working as a servant. The young girl declared that she left home "to have a good time," and added, "I surely did have it." While in New York she made the acquaintance of Jack Clune, a waiter. She shields the latter from all blame.

PICTURE MAY CONVICT HIM.

Snapshot of Swindler at Philadelphia May Put Him in Prison.

Milwaukee, Wis. Jan. 18.—The action of the Milwaukee police department in September of taking a photograph of two prisoners under the most adverse conditions will probably cause the conviction, at Dayton, O., of M. H. Moore, alias H. H. Mason, alias J. Rice, who is charged with having swindled L. H. Taylor, a Philadelphia broker, out of $15,000 in a confidence game involving the sale of a mine, which proved to be nonexistant.

Moore is alleged to be the foremost "gold brick" artist in the country, and is alleged to have swindled men out of $200,000. On Sept. 9 Moore and Bragg were arrested in Milwaukee on a vagrancy charge. Chief Jansen was convinced that the two were confidence artists, and was firm in his belief that they were wanted in other parts of the country. Although the police were baffled in their attempt to identify them, it was decided to take pictures of the two and send them broadcast throughout the states. The police photographer was pressed into service, but the men foiled all efforts to take their photographs.

It was then decided to resort to a ruse, and take the picture by strategy. J. H. Taylor, a newspaper photographer, was requested by the chief to snap the pair, if possible, and he took a position in a vacant store, and was successful in securing the photographs as the men walked by. Mason and Bragg were released in Milwaukee on bail of $100, but forfeited it.

THE DANGER OF LA GRIPPE

Fisher, Washington, Kan., says: "I was troubled with a severe attack of la grippe and nothing I used did me any good and I was threatened with pneumonia. A friend advised me to use Foley's Honey and Tar Compound and I got some at once. I was relieved from the very first. By the time I had taken three bottles my la grippe was gone. I believe Foley's Honey and Tar Compound to be the best medicine I ever used and always keep a bottle with me." Dreier Drug Co.

PACKERS LIKE SIMPLE LIFE.

Chicago Meat Magnates Find Pleasure in Farming.

Chicago, Jan. 18.—Farming is alluring to four of the ten Chicago packers now on trial. J. Ogden Armour farms 1,200 acres which are stocked with pedigreed cattle, hogs, geese, ducks and chickens. Louis F. Swift has a big farmhouse in the midst of a 600-acre tract, the draining of which has given him more keen enjoyment than any other undertaking of his. Francis A. Fowler, of Swift & Co., has a fruit farm in Michigan of 300 acres.

Arthur Meeker is the dairy farmer of the lot and it is said his "Aready farm" was the first dairy in the country to produce certified milk, bottled under medical inspection and principally used for babies. During one of the intermissions of the trial he was heard to say to Mr. Ormour: "I only own 400 acres but I farm 1,200, for you see I am a renter. I hire land from farmers in Lake county who have retired."

Mr. Meeker is one of the trustees of the University of Illinois agricultural college. The directory of the county lists him moreover as "Arthur Meeker, dairyman." It is no absentee farming with him either for he spends much of his time at the farm and many times has declared that his occupation was that of farmer. Sitting day after day in a court room is a novel experience in idleness for all of the ten men, and there are many indications that a less strenuous life would be more to their liking than the one which their wealth and responsibilities have caused them to lead.

Mrs. Solomon Ely, who has completely recovered from a serious operation, will return to her home in a few days.

FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR COMPOUND "CURES IN EVERY CASE."

Mr. Jas. McCaffery, Mgr. of the Schlitz hotel, Omaha, Neb., recommends Foley's Honey and Tar Compound, because it cures in every case. "I have used it myself and I have recommended it to many others who have since told me of its great curative power in diseases of the throat and lungs." Foley's Honey and Tar Compound is a reliable family medicine. Give it to your children, and take it yourself when you feel a cold coming on. It checks and cures coughs, colds and croup and prevents bronchitis and pneumonia. Refuse substitutes. Dreier Drug Co.

Thousands of mothers are looking younger.—Their gray hairs are gone. The natural color has come back, and with it a new growth of soft, glossy, luxuriant hair. Why should you look old before your time, when you can look years younger by using

WYETH'S SAGE AND SULPHUR HAIR REMEDY

Dandruff Cured

Three applications removed all the dandruff and left my scalp clean, white and smooth. Wm. Croak, Rochester, N. Y.

Restores Gray Hair to Natural Color

If other "so-called" Restorers have failed, don't give up hope, but give WYETH'S SAGE AND SULPHUR HAIR REMEDY a trial. You run no risk. If it is not exactly as represented, your money will be refunded.

PROFIT BY OTHERS' EXPERIENCE

Gray Hair Restored

My hair was getting quite gray and falling out rapidly, and I was troubled with a terrible itching of the scalp. My head was full of dandruff, which fell upon my clothes and kept me continually brushing it off. While on a visit to Rochester I heard of your Sage and Sulphur for the hair. I got a bottle and used it. A few applications relieved the itching, my hair stopped falling out and gradually came back to its natural color. It is now a nice dark brown color, soft, glossy and pliable. Several of my friends want to use it, and I want to know what you will charge me for six bottles of it.

MISS E. A. ROSS,
Sharon, Mercer Co., Pa.

Grew Hair on a Bald Head

For two or three years my hair had been falling out and getting quite thin until the top of my head was entirely bald. About four months ago I commenced using Sage and Sulphur. The first bottle seemed to do some good and I kept using it regularly until now I have used four bottles. The whole top of my head is fairly covered and keeps coming in thicker. I shall keep on using it a while longer, as I notice a constant improvement.

YOUNGEST TEMPLE TO UNDERTAKE IT

Mizpah Shriners Setting a New Pace Among the A. A. N. M. S.

CARNIVAL; NOW PLAY

Mizpah temple, Fort Wayne's organization of Ancient Arabic Order Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, is setting a new pace even in that lively organization. It is the youngest organization that has ever attempted some of the things it is doing and doing successfully. Organized but two years ago, it has organized a splendid band, a crack patrol, has engineered a big mardi gras event and now stands sponsor for a big revival of "Are You a Mason?" which will be given at the Majestic theater for a solid week beginning Feb. 5. The play will be given by a professional company of high merit, and is not in any sense an amateur production. The band and patrol of Mizpah temple, however, will add an oriental scene which will give the band and patrol an opportunity to exemplify some of the Shrine stunts in full costume. The Shriners expect 7,000 Fort Wayne people to see "Are You a Mason?" that week.

Last year at Rochester, N. Y., the Mizpah temple representatives made a big hit in the competition drills, and this year they will carry Fort Wayne's fame to Los Angeles in a similar manner. No other temple of Shriners so young as Mizpah has ever attempted to break into competition against the trained and practiced patrols of other and older temples, and the members of the Mizpah patrol average younger in age than do those of any other similar organization.

When four hunters or less departed in succession from a nearby log cabin, the rook would return to its nest after the last had gone out of sight. But whenever there were more the bird lost count and returned to its nest even while some were still in the hut.

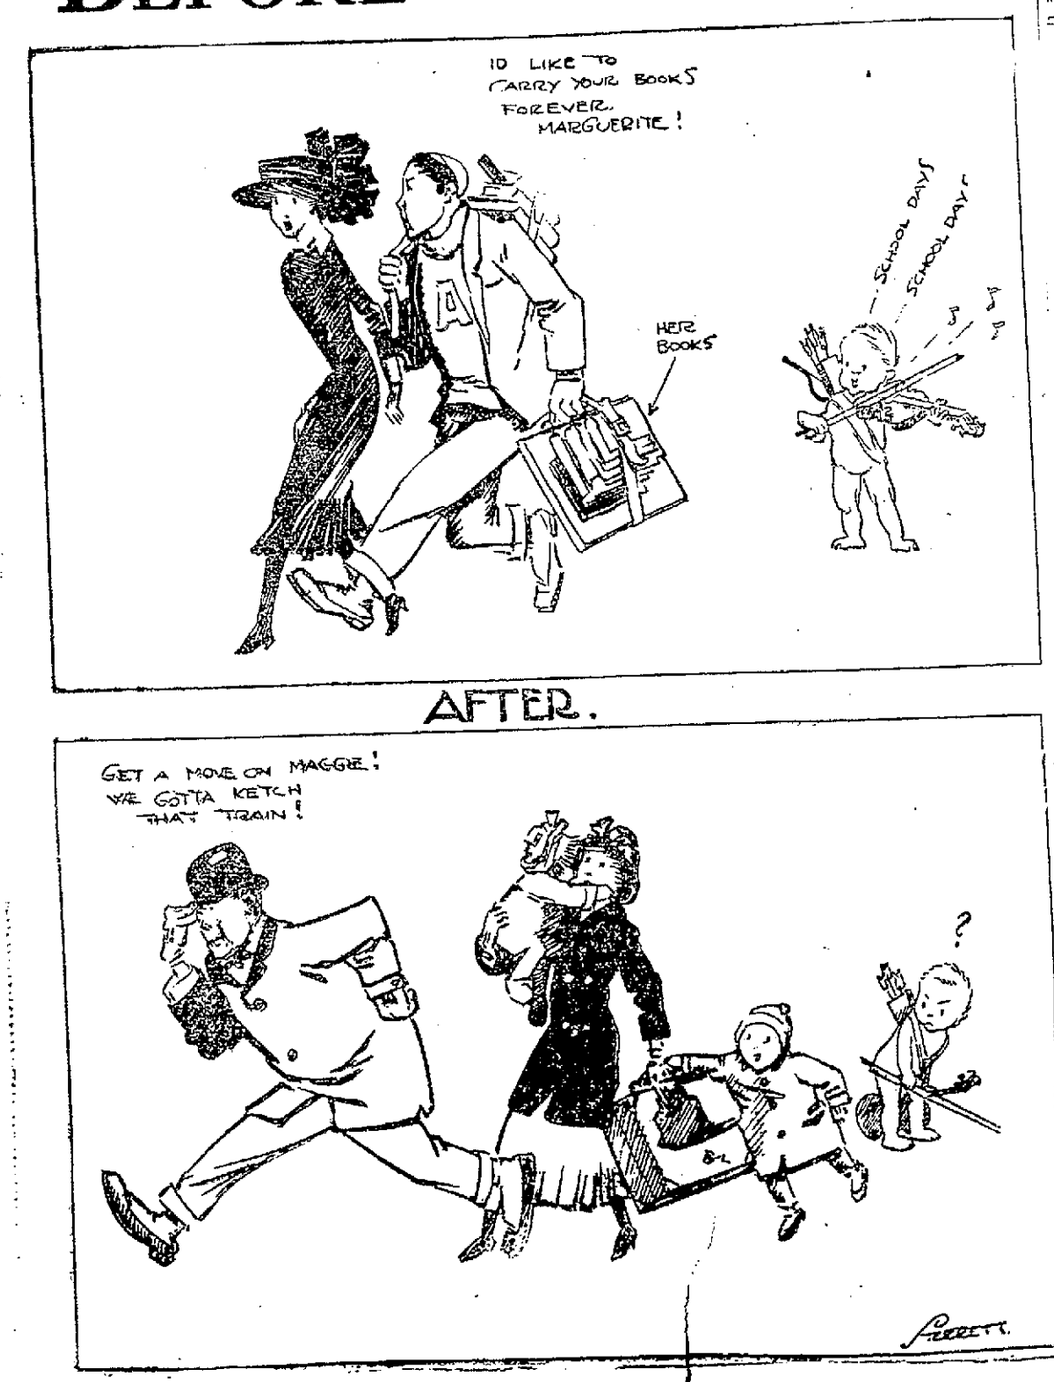
BEFORE AND AFTER



Cattle, a Japanese writer tells us, have been used in Japan almost since prehistoric times instead of horses for plowing, drawing vehicles, etc., but only within a generation as milk producers. Japanese people in general are not fond of cow's milk. The milk, they say, tastes "cowy." Since the introduction of foreign breeds of cattle the use of milk has increased, but the sensitive Japanese taste still prefers food and beverages that have no animal flavor.

I Am Willing To Prove I Can Cure You

To That End I Am Giving Away $10,000 Worth of Medicine

In order to show beyond all doubt that I am in possession of a medicine that will cure kidney trouble, bladder trouble or rheumatism, I will this year give away ten thousand dollars' worth of this medicine, and anyone suffering from these diseases can get a box of it absolutely free. All that is necessary is to send me your address.

I don't mean that you are to use a part of it or all of it and pay me if cured. I mean that I will send you a box of this medicine absolutely free of charge, a gift from me to the Uric Acid sufferers of the world, so I can show them where and how they may be cured. I will not expect payment for this free medicine, nor would I accept it now or later if you sent it. It is free in the real meaning of the word.

For twenty-five years—a quarter of a century—I have been trying to convince the public that I have something genuine, something better than others have for the cure of stubborn, chronic rheumatism, for torturing kidney backache, for annoying calls to urinate. But it is hard to convince people—they try a few things unsuccessfully and give up all hope and refuse to listen to anyone thereafter. Happily, I am in a position now to demonstrate to sufferers at my own expense that I have a medicine that cures these diseases. I don't ask them to spend any money to find out; I don't ask them to believe me, nor even to take the word of reliable people, but all I ask is that they allow me to send them the medicine at my own cost. That is surely fair.

To this end I have set aside ten thousand dollars, which will be used to compound my medicine. Much of it is ready now to be sent out, all of it fresh and standard. There will be enough for all sufferers, though there be thousands of them. And anyone who needs it can get some of it free. But in order that I shall know that you have a disease for which this medicine is intended, I ask you to send me some of your leading symptoms. If you have any of the symptoms in the list printed here you need my medicine and if you will write me I will gladly send you a box of it free with full directions for your use. Look the symptoms over, see which symptoms you have, then write me about as follows: "Dear Dr., I notice symptoms number"—here put down the numbers, give your age, full address, and send it to me. My address is Dr. T. Frank Lynott, 5642 Occidental Bldg., Chicago, Ill.

The ten thousand dollars I am spending for the compounding of my medicine is only a part of the money I am devoting to this cause, for the package of medicine I send you will be fully prepaid at my expense. From any standpoint you view it, YOU incur no expense or obligation. Just tell others who you know are suffering who sent you the medicine that cured you.

I am promising to give away ten thousand dollars' worth of medicine, and I will do that. I am promising to send any sufferer who writes me a box of this medicine and full directions free of charge, and I will do that.

DR. T. FRANK LYNOTT

I can say further that this medicine has been vouched for according to law as complying in every detail with all requirements. It will

Texas raises more turkeys than any other state—perhaps because turkeys require plenty of room for range, and Texas surely can give them that. Little Rhode Island, however, is said to produce the largest number of big turkeys—some of them weighing forty pounds, and worth 40 cents for every pound.

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago Market.

Chicago, Ill., Jan. 18.—Shorts covering because of the unreasonably cold and stormy weather in the Argentine tended to put strength today into the wheat market. May started at $1.00⅝ to $1.00¾, a gain of ⅛@¼c to ¼@⅜c, reacted to $1.00¾ and rallied to $1.00½@1.00⅝.

Increased marketings by Nebraska farmers brought about rather free selling later, and sent prices down. The close was easy, with May wheat ⅜c net lower at $1.00@1.00⅛.

Corn, although higher at the outset, sold off under pressure from leading longs. May opened a shade lower to ⅛@¼c up at 66½c to 66¾c and declined to 66¼@66⅜c.

Afterward the fact that exporters were holding off, led to a further setback. Closing figures were easy, ⅜@½c down for May corn, at 66⅛c.

Oats showed a disposition to follow corn. May started unchanged to a sixteenth higher at 49⅞c to 49⅝@50c and dropped to 49¾c.

Packers unloaded hog products rather freely and made quotations somewhat easier. Initial sales were a shade to 10c down, with May delivery $16.25 for pork, $9.47½ to $9.52½ for lard and $8.30 for ribs.

STOCKS AND BONDS.

The Day on Wall Street.

New York, Jan. 18.—Opening prices of stocks today in most cases were slightly lower. The buying movement in the tobacco issues continued and American Tobacco preferred rose a point and American Snuff preferred 1%. Otherwise changes were small.

The hesitation at the outset was succeeded by a definite movement upward. New ork Central was active and 1¼ higher. Western Union improved 1½. National Biscuit 1¾ and American Brake Shoe preferred 4 points.

Market conditions were virtually unchanged during the morning. The high prices of the tobacco stocks invited some profit taking during the second hour but the general market was not affected. Some material advances were registered in dormant issues. Bonds were steady.

The market closed steady. Trading was conducted in desultory fashion in the last hour with scarcely any movement in the important stocks. Final prices were not essentially changed from yesterday's closing.

IDEA SEEMED TO BE CONTAGIOUS

Everybody Wanted a Continuance in the City Court Today.

INCLUDING THE VAGS

When the first called in the list of a motley array of prisoners facing Judge Mungovan in the city court this morning pleaded not guilty, declared he was not guilty and asked for a continuance, the idea spread like a contagious disease. Pretty nearly all who followed also pleaded for delay, including even a man accused of vagrancy who proposes to have witnesses in court Friday morning to prove that he hadn't been begging on Calhoun street. Most of the cases went over.

Sekula Krozeff, a Greek who operates a poolroom at Berry and Calhoun streets, was in court charged with allowing minors to loiter and play in his place of business. Krozeff was arrested last night by Chief Abbott and Patrolmen Eisenhut and Zwick, and put up a bond of $50 for his appearance in court today. The police had in court a group of boys as witnesses, but Krozeff asked for a continuance, pleading that he did not understand English sufficiently well to comprehend the steps in legal procedure. The case went over until Friday.

The Other Cases.

Lewis Friday and Henry Friday were in court on charges of public intoxication. They pleaded not guilty and the cases went over until Friday.

Charles Collins, charged with vagrancy, explained to Deputy Prosecutor Callahan that he understood that vagrancy "constitutes a man who hasn't worked for six months," and wanted witnesses to put up his defense. His case also went over.

J. W. Redding, a discharged Anthony hotel employe who got a load aboard and then moved back into his room in the hotel, had his case for public intoxication carried over to Saturday.

His "Money Finish."

Joe Abdulla, a Syrian, was picked up in the east yards for loitering. He explained to the court that he had been hunting work until his "money finish," and he was trying to get out of town. He was allowed to go.

George Overholtzer, charged with assault and battery upon the person of Lewis Friday, said he was not guilty. He was not ready for trial and his case went over on a bond of $25.

George Blake and James Hogan, arrested a day or two ago for public intoxication, were given an opportunity to get out of town.

TEMPLE THEATER

Clever French Quartet on Big Bill This Week.

An artistic touch is given the Temple bill this week by the operatic rendition of the Cadets De Gascogne, a quartet composed of three men and one woman. They are French singers and their singing at every performance elicits the most generous and appreciative applause. Opera groups in vaudeville must be very good to make it any sort of a hit; this quartet have been forced to respond to encores at every performance.

All acts this week are very good and an afternoon or evening at the Temple any time this week will be well spent.

* * *

Next Week's Offering.

To the Temple next week comes the musical comedians, Sol Goldsmith and Guy Hoppe, in their screaming comedy success "The Commercial Drummer." The Celli Opera company is a sextette of carefully selected vocalists in "Old Madrid" and are said to have a great act. Mereeno and Delton Brothers have a great act in more ways than one, so says the press. The Minstrel Four are some singers and comedians. Cora Simpson and company will present a political farce entitled "Petticoat Candidate." Fred and Annie Pelot, the juggling jokers, and El Barto, the conversational trickster, complete an excellent bill.

Eighty children's overcoats, $4 to $10 in price, go at just half price during our great overcoat sale.

LYRIC THEATER.

Life is a play the gifted hard once put into immortal words. But whether it is a comedy, drama or tragedy be neglected to state. Sometimes it is all three, with a suffragette ballet thrown in. Often too, its humor and its tragedy are only divided by a hairline, and in most cases it's a woman's hair. We humans are the only animals that make fools of themselves; and if sometime our errors are redeemed, it is not because of our wisdom, but in spite of our folly. We prove these few facts in "Angels Unaware." It's the kind of a story the angels would tell of the world's eternal triangle, only here it is a quadrangle—and another kind of a wrangle. How a dead desert of hope blossoms forth as a sweet realization, how a battle-ground becomes a sanctuary and conflict contentment are told by angels unaware in "Angels Unaware." The other picture, an American, "Justice of the Sage," both showing for the first time.

Bath robes discounted 50 per cent during our January sale.

MAKES STOMACH TROUBLES VANISH

No Indigestion, Heartburn, Gas or Dyspepsia in Five Minutes.

Why not get some now—this moment, and forever rid yourself of Stomach trouble and Indigestion? A dieted stomach gets the blues and grumbles. Give it a good eat, then take Pape's Diapepsin to start the digestive juices working. There will be no dyspepsia or belching of Gas or eructations of undigested food; no feeling like a lump of lead in the stomach or heartburn, sick headache and Dizziness, and your food will not ferment and poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapepsin costs only 50 cents for a large case at any drug store here, and will relieve the most obstinate case of Indigestion and Upset Stomach in five minutes.

There is nothing else better to take Gas from Stomach and cleanse the stomach and intestines, and, besides, one single dose will digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all your food the same as a sound, healthy stomach would do it.

When Diapepsin works, your stomach rests—gets itself in order, cleans up—and then you feel like eating when you come to the table, and what you eat will do you good.

Absolute relief from all Stomach Misery is waiting for you as soon as you decide to take a little Diapepsin. Tell your druggist that you want Pape's Diapepsin, because you want to become thoroughly cured this time.

Remember, if your stomach feels out of order and uncomfortable now, you can surely get relief in five minutes. adv.

INVENTS SHORT ALPHABET.

Nine Letters Fewer Will Save Time and Space.

Chicago, Jan. 18.—More time is to be saved for the stenographer, more space is to be placed at the disposal of the letter writer and thoughts are to be expressed direct without waste, in a new alphabet adaped to meet the modern demands of scientific management. The inventor is Prof. Fred Newton Scott, of the University of Michigan.

The alphabet, which is said to have the approval of type manufacturers and typewriter houses, is intended to reduce the modern English alphabet by nine characters and do away with combinations which Prof. Scott declares are cumbersome, wasteful, and complicated and do not express clearly the thought of the speaker or writer.

"The elements of the alphabet that I have designed are simple," said he. "The system resembles shorthand in one respect, yet the simplicity of the entire proposition is such that no one need devote a great deal of study in order to master its meaning."

Notice to the Public

For some reason or other our name was omitted from the Home Telephone book. We are notifying the citizens that we have a stock of hard coal mined by the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron Co., the largest producers of hard coal in the United States.

Our stock of soft coal, consisting of Jackson, Massillon, West Virginia, Hocking and Plato Cannel cannot be excelled in their burning qualities.

We also carry a large stock of coke, charcoal and kindling. According to our arrangements with the Telephone company the operators will cheerfully give you our number. If you order coal from the Kanadian Coal Co. and same is delivered by another from the mistake will be duly investigated and you will receive a half ton of our very best soft coal free. We do not know who is working against us but in this way will find the origin.
